HAVERHILL WITNESSES

Miss Leola Jones, bookkeeper, and Abraham I. White (insert), who worked in the same market as Joseph Jones. Both declare Jones admitted his family knew nothing of the Ward-Peters murder scandal, but led the Ward lawyers to believe they did and gave damaging testimony under their instructions. The family suddenly became affluent and quit Haverhill between days after claiming credit for the release of Ward.

BRITON HELD FOR RANSOM BY CHINESE

Hong Kong, April 27. (By the Associated Press).—H. C. Howson, a member of the staff of the British-American Tobacco Company, has been captured by robbers at Meli, north of the port of Pakhoi in the southwest of Kwangtung Province, and is held for $30,000 ransom, according to representations made by the company to the British consular authorities today.

JIM LARKIN TO GO TO RUSSIA

Dublin, April 27.—"Jim" Larkin, Irish Communist and labor agitator, who was deported from the United States last Saturday, will not remain in Ireland, but will go to Russia, his friends said today.

Larkin was deported after being pardoned from an American prison, where he was serving a term for criminal anarchy.

STEAMER CAUGHT IN ICE PACK

Halifax, N. S., April 27.—Wireless messages today reported the British steamer Cymric Queen ashore and hemmed in by an ice pack in latitude 45.35 north and longitude 60.26 west, estimated to be about five miles from Point St. Esprit on the Cape Breton coast.

The government steamer Sydney picked up distress signals from the Cymric Queen, but could not respond, as she was bottled up by drift ice in Bras d'Or Lakes. The Cymric Queen is a 2,400-ton vessel.

SCHOONER IS BURNED IN FISHERMEN'S WAR

Key West, Florida, April 27.—The flaming ruins of a schooner sunk a few miles off shore here today while her crew cowered in another boat in custody of the sheriff, who believed protection of them necessary after the seizure of the vessel in a bitter war of sponge fishermen of these waters.

MYSTERY FIGURE IN WARD CASE

Divorced Husband of "Queenie" Jones May Have Known Slayer

By BERT FORD

Haverhill, April 27.—Arl r Thompson Elliott, a young sailor divorced last August by "Queenie Jones," so-called sweetheart of Clarence Peters, the Haverhill bluejacket slain by Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker, loomed today as the latest mystery figure in the White Plains murder scandal.

Every effort was made here to as

Advertises for His Stolen Ladder, Gets 3 Back

Fort Williams, Ont., April 27.—A want ad, paid for by Dudley G. Dwyre, United States Consul, appeared in a local newspaper today.

"Unless the person who removed a stepladder from myresidence returns it at once, action will be taken, for I know who is responsible," the ad read.

Within three hours three ladders had been dumped in frent of his house. But the missing one was not among them.

ABERDEEN STUDENTS KIDNAP NEW RECTOR

Aberdeen, April 27.—Lively scenes occurred at Aberdeen University yesterday when Sir Robert Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer, was installed as lord rector.

Sir Robert was kidnaped by the students and placed on an Egyptian throne—a yellow painted milk cart, converted into a golden chariot and drawn by a pantomime camel consisting of four students.

Sir Robert's hat was seized and a yellow headdress to represent King Tutankhamen substituted. A crimson wrap was put over his shoulders.

A bodyguard grotesquely attired as old Egyptians conveyed him through the principal thoroughfares to lunch with the principal of the university.

PAPPAS HAS LAST FIGHT FOR LIFE

Sits in Dock While Feeney, His Counsel, Accuses Police of Torture

Seated in the dock in Judge Keating's court, his hands manacled and his eyes burning, Paul Pappas today heard what he knows is the last fight for his life.

He heard his attorney, John F. Feeney, tell Judge Keating that he was "bulldozed, threatened and tortured" by the police on the occasion when he was questioned concerning the murder of Mrs. Alice Arsenault.

He heard his attorney charge that the alleged signature of Mrs. Arsenault was written on a paper nearly two months after the government alleged Mrs. Arsenault had been killed.

He heard Feeney charge that this information was given to officers of the prosecution, he says, brought up at the murder trial.

CHARGES PERJURY.

He heard Feeney charge that the principal witness against him had perjured himself.

This was the second time that Pappas had left the death cell to appear in court.

The first time was nine weeks ago, when, on the day set for his execution, he was taken to the courtroom of Justice Braley. A technical point was being argued and the law required that the condemned man be present.

REFUSED FOUR TIMES.

When Pappas entered the courtroom of Judge Patrick J. Keating today, it was to take the stand in his own behalf.

A dozen times hope has been dangled before him, each time to be crushed by the machinery of the law. Four times Governor Cox has refused to intercede in any way.

Attorney Feeney told the court why, in his opinion, Pappas is entitled to a new trial.

He told the court about the testimony at the murder trial months ago of one Theresa Sautnier, called by the government.

Mrs. Alice Arsenault was mur-

12 Dead, 20 Hurt, in New York Blaze

New York, April 27.—Twelve persons perished in a fire which swept through a tenement in East 109th street today. A family of five were among the victims, dying in a fifth-floor apartment.

Scores fled the flame-filled structure by way of the fire escapes, while a dozen others were spectacularly rescued by police and firemen.

Twenty persons were injured, many of them seriously. Several firemen and policemen were burned in effecting rescues. Ten of the dead perished in the building. The others had been removed to a hospital where they died of shocks and burns.

The dead are:

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Kuxis and their two children, Bertha, twenty-one, and David, nineteen.

Mrs. David Maudelbaum and her six children, Minnie, Michael, Morris, Bennie, Alexander and a fifteen-months-old baby.

Mrs. Isaac Brownstein.

The fire is believed to have started from a lighted cigarette carelessly thrown into some waste in a store room.

Many of the tenants, clad only in their nightclothes, fled down a rear fire escape, which ended at the first floor, twenty-five feet above the ground. A taxicab driver drove his car beneath the safety platform, the

DIXON GIRL DROPS BABE RUTH SUIT

New York, April 27 (By International News Service—As attorneys for George Herman (Babe) Ruth, famous ball player, were about to produce a witness in court today to sustain an allegation that the $50,000 suit against Ruth by Miss Dolores Dixon was the result of a conspiracy they were served with papers dropping the suit.

Miss Dixon had alleged that Ruth was the father of her child.

The papers serving notice that the suit was dropped were signed by Miss

U. S. OIL MEN WIN GROUND IN MEXICO

Mexico City, April 27.—The Petroleum Bill specifying that Article 27 is not retroactive, and ratifying all concessions granted before May 1, 1917, was passed by the House of Deputies today and sent to the Senate. American Oil interests had objected to Article 27, contending it was considered retroactive by Mexico.

MILAN WORKERS TO QUIT ON MAY DAY

Milan, April 27 (By the Associated Press).—The metal workers of Milan issued a proclamation today declaring their intention to abstain from work on May Day. Police have warned Socialists and Communists that any incitement to a strike on May Day would be repressed and severely punished.

ANARCHISTS THREATEN OUTRAGES

Special Precautions Ordered for All Edifices During May Day Period

The Boston police today took steps to guard churches from threatened destruction by anarchists. These precautions followed threats to destroy churches in Boston, Cambridge and Somerville.

In Boston the structures marked for bomb or fire outrages are St. Paul's Cathedral, the Christian Science (Mother) Church and the Old South Church.

Police Superintendent Michael H. Crowley said today that all churches in the city would be given special attention through the May Day period.

Lookout will be kept for persons with packages of suspicious appearance who attempt to enter churches

THREATENS TO ARREST RECALCITRANT WARD CASE WITNESSES

ATTORNEY-GENERAL ANGRY AT EFFORTS TO BLOCK PROBE

certain whether any friendship existed between Elliott, Peters and Ward. It was thought Ward's alleged acquaintance with bluejackets may have included Elliott and that this friendship caused Ward's lawyers and detectives to flock here and to spirit away "Queenie" Jones, her baby and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jones, to England after they had been kept in style and seclusion in fashionable New York Bristol, incognito, for months.

The Jones family disappeared from Haverhill late last September. They sailed on the steamship Alsatia for Liverpool on Jan. 13. They are now in Liverpool. All expenses to England and during the family's long stay in New York were defrayed by the Ward family, according to intimates here.

EMPLOY WOMAN AGENT.

A woman agent of the Ward lawyers made arrangements for the care of the Jones family while in New York, according to Attorney General Sherman of New York in the Albany investigation into the case.

Sherman threatened to arrest persons he charges are blocking the State's efforts to investigate the killing of Peters after a day of exasperation at the attitude of telegraph companies and recalcitrant witnesses.

And now word comes from Jones overseas that they have been stranded and that the stories they told denouncing Peters to Save Ward were faked and that they now stand ready to tell the truth.

Neighbors and the few friends made by the Joneses in their six months of residence in Haverhill agree that Jones and his wife "pulled the wool over the eyes of the Wards and their lawyers and sleuths." Hereabout the corraling of the Joneses is looked upon as a huge hoax.

"They landed a soft life for close to eight months and an ocean voyage de luxe and fixins for knowing what cute lawyers told them to know," was the way one neighbor expressed it.

VISIONS OF WEALTH.

The advent of the New York barristers resembled the visit of fairy godmothers for "Joe" Jones, meat cutter and store manager for the United Butchers' Market at No. 149 Merrimack street.

"Joe," bubbling over with visions of sudden affluence, told Abraham I. White of No. 27 Water street, who worked with him in the market, that he expected to get enough out of the Ward case to "buy ten markets and retire for life."

Jones felt so flush that he offered to give White all of his furniture for nothing, but White refused it and Jones and his wife sold their household effects among the neighbors at figures almost equivalent to giving them away. And in the dead of night the family drove away in a big touring car. That was the last heard or seen of them here.

The unanimous verdict here today was that Peters was not "Queenie" Jones' sweetheart, as she did not secure her divorce until a month before her departure for New York. Jones told neighbors that he had only seen young Peters once or twice in the most casual manner. The daughter "Queenie," blonde and blue-eyed and twenty-one years of age, seldom went out while they lived in Haverhill.

She was never under the watchful eye of her mother, Mrs. Jessie Jones, who danced on the stage in England until her health failed. "Queenie" is said to have had a limited stage experience.

"Queenie married Arthur Thompson Elliott in 1919 and divorced him on August 6 last. Her three-year-old son was represented to neighbors as her brother until Elliott, the father, called at the modest two-family house, No. 15 Bartlett street, and asked what had become of his former wife and child.

MADE FEW FRIENDS.

Joseph J. Jones, the father of Queenie, came with his wife from Liverpool to New York in 1919. He worked in New York for a time, then went to Boston where he was employed in a department store. In 1921 he became manager of a Roxbury market. Later he went to work for Arthur E. Derr, wholesaler in meats on North street. He worked for other markets, among them one owned by Samuel Bornstein on Tremont street.

He returned to England during the war, but did not serve in the army. He is about forty-five years of age, smart and dapper. Mrs. Jones is a large blonde.

MRS. PETERS ANGRY.

Mrs. Mary Peters, mother of the murdered boy indignantly denied the report that her son had ever kept company with Queenie Jones or that any of the Jones family knew anything derogatory about her son. Mrs. Peters is working every day in the shoe factory. Her husband, long an invalid, has returned to his job on the local fire force. They have had a hard time of it since Clarence has ceased to contribute to their support.

Miss Leola Jones, of No. 15 High street, employed as bookkeeper at the United Butchers' Market, said today:

"Jones was rather a loose talker. He mentioned the Ward case and kept adding to his story until the first thing we knew strange men whom we later learned were lawyers and detectives from New York were holding frequent conferences with him. He admitted to Mr. White and me that he didn't know anything about Peters or the murder, but that he was pretending to them that he did.

"I knew Mrs. Jones and the daughter Queenie about as well as anybody in Haverhill and I know that Clarence Peters never kept company with the girl, and that he never visited their home on Bartlett street.

PETERS STRANGER.

Abraham I. White, who worked with Jones in the market, said:

"Jones or his wife knew nothing about Peters. He was a stranger to them. Jones said his wife claimed to have got a letter mentioning his daughter, or something of the sort.

"As I understood it, something wrong was told about Peters to the Ward detectives and attorneys, and then Mrs. Jones and her husband and daughter were forced to stick to their story about the boy being bad or something.

"I kidded Jones about it. I accused him of knowing no more than I did. He smiled and said he didn't know anything, but that the lawyers thought he did and that he was letting them think so.

"After a while he told me with much excitement that he had got a lot of money and expected more.

BOMBS TO START FIRES

APPARATUS FOUND IN BLAMFIELD'S LABORATORY

In a raid on the premises occupied by Charles Blamfield at No. 1413 Washington street the police found materials used in his "automatic fire starter," by which bombs could be placed at a given spot and timed to operate any time within one minute or five hours, according to how they were regulated. Police also found literature carefully explaining how the "fire setters" should be used. The picture shows two of the bombs with fuses attached. The fuses are regulated by various colored chemicals.

THREATEN TO BURN CHURCHES

or are seen loitering in the neighborhood.

In Cambridge, St. Paul's Church in Auburn street and St. John's Memorial Chapel were threatened.

In Somerville threats were made against two churches the names of which were not disclosed by the authorities.

The discovery that several churches were threatened followed the arrest yesterday of Charles Blamfield, whose invention to start fires automatically is believed by the police to have figured in at least one recent church blaze.

The threats against the churches were made in letters or postal cards addressed to the various pastors, except in the case of St. Paul's Cathedral, to which the warning was sent to Bishop Lawrence.

He turned it over to Police Superintendent Crowley, who ordered the Cathedral guarded. The Old South Church is also under the watchful eye of plainclothes men.

In Cambridge special precaution has been taken to prevent outrages against the churches but the police refuse to make public their plans. The same is true in Somerville.

The hall of Blamfield was jumped from $3,000 to $7,000 following the discovery in his South End apartment of clippings from newspapers describing fires in Catholic churches in the United States and Canada.

St. Paul's Cathedral, one of the leading Protestant churches in the East, and headquarters of the Episcopalian faith in this section, is situated in the centre of the Boston shopping district. It is surrounded on all sides by some of the largest retail stores in the city.

St. John's Memorial Chapel, connected with St. John's Episcopal Theological School, faces on Brattle street, at the intersection of Brattle and Mason streets in Cambridge. This church is now attended by the old Cambridge residents of the city.

Situated near Radcliffe College, and the former residence of Longfellow, the poet, on Brattle street, is St. John's Chapel. Separating the chapel from the First Congregational Church, which is located on the further end of Mason street, is a row of houses.

MAINTAINS SPECIAL GUARD.

Questioned about the receipt of the letter, Fred E. Dennen, superintendent of the Theological School buildings, declined to make any statement beyond admitting that it was his opinion that it was not a "childish prank." He also stated that he was taking every precaution to prevent the culmination of the threat.

Because of the letter received by the pastor, threatening that the church would be destroyed "on April 24," a special guard has been maintained at St. Paul's Catholic Church located in Cambridge. The whole neighborhood was thrown into confusion when several explosions were heard on that date, last Tuesday.

SCOUTS CONVENE AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, April 27.—At the invitation of Mrs. Harding, extended as honorary president of the organization, delegates attending the ninth annual convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts held their concluding session today in the White House grounds. Financing and standards of conduct for the various decorations awarded girl scouts came up for discussion.

NEW EVIDENCE FOR PAPPAS HEARD

dered in her lodging house at No. 517 Columbus avenue, the government held, some time between Christmas eve and the day after Christmas, 1918. Her body was not found until the following May.

Mrs. Saulnier testified she had purchased the lodging house from Paul Pappas in January, 1920. This was after Mrs. Arsenault is supposed to have been killed.

BLOOD-STAINED SHEETS.

She told the court at the time that she had been convinced Pappas had been authorized to sell the property. On January 5, 1920, she paid him $875 for the effects, she said.

After that, searching about the house to see just what she had bought, she had occasion to open a trunk that belonged to Pappas. In it she found a woman's clothing. More feminine attire was in a drawer of his bureau. She found a pillowslip filled with clothes, including torn sheets that were blood-stained.

On the day the above discoveries were made, she testified, Pappas left the house and she never saw him again.

This, Feeney told the court, was substantially what the woman testified at the murder trial.

Since then, Feeney said, it has been established that in February—over a month after the alleged murder of Mrs. Arsenault by Pappas—Mrs. Saulnier went to the office of the American Piano Company in Boston for the purpose of taking over the account and lease on a player-piano Mrs. Arsenault had leased from the company.

Mrs. Saulnier's arm was bandaged at the time, Feeney said. She told Douglas Clark, credit manager of the firm, that she was a sister of Mrs. Arsenault and that she desired to take over the account.

She was informed by Clark that it would be necessary for Mrs. Arsenault to appear in the office and sign a release.

Mrs. Saulnier informed Clark that Mrs. Arsenault was then sick at the Mercy Hospital, Springfield. This, the attorney emphasized, was more than a month after Mrs. Arsenault, according to the government's case, had been killed.

Clark told Mrs. Saulnier the company would be satisfied, in view of the alleged illness of Mrs. Arsenault, if Mrs. Saulnier would get Mrs. Arsenault's signature to a release.

On February 17th Mrs. Saulnier returned with a release duly signed by Mrs. Arsenault. It was dated that day, and the signature of Mrs. Arsenault was witnessed by one James J. Gleason.

This evidence, Feeney said, was known to police officers working on the case. It was never introduced in the murder trial.

Another phase of the case brought up by Feeney had to do with the testimony of Joseph Sifakis, one of the roomers at the Columbus avenue lodging house. Sifakis testified at the murder trial that on the morning of December 26th, 1919, he went into the kitchen of Mrs. Arsenault's house and found Pappas preparing breakfast for him.

DISPUTES TESTIMONY.

He testified that Pappas explained Mrs. Arsenault had been drunk the night before and could not get up to prepare the breakfast.

Sifakis testified that he saw Mrs. Arsenault lying on a couch in the kitchen. She was quite still, he said. He could not see her breathe.

He further testified he had heard Pappas threaten to kill Mrs. Arsenault.

Feeney stated that Lena Kokos, another witness for the government, had listened to Sifakis' testimony and that, right in the courtroom reported to certain officers identified with the prosecution that his story on the stand differed materially with the story he had told her and her husband, James Kokos, on the evening of December 26.

Mrs. Kokos said, Feeney alleged, that Sifakis had told her and her husband that on the morning of December, 26, 1919, he had not eaten his breakfast in Mrs. Arsenault's house at all; that he had eaten his breakfast that morning in a restaurant, that he had not seen either Pappas or Mrs. Arsenault in the house that morning.

We Are Prosperous Our Politicians Are Soft The King Marries His Son Convention for San Francisco

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

SPEAKING, as you may have been, about prosperity, consider this comparison. In 1922 Great Britain manufactured forty thousand automobiles.

In 1922 the United States output was three million cars.

Automobiles owned in the State of Iowa, a really great State, could take the entire Iowa population motoring at the same time, everybody, men, women, babies, without putting more than five passengers in one car.

THOSE FIGURES mean real prosperity. A nation with automobiles, compared with a nation lacking them, is like a nation of flying birds compared to a nation of creeping turtles.

Every month this nation produces more motor cars than the total number now existing in Great Britain. Think that over. We have more than ten million cars, one for every ten people. Britain has 314,769.

THIS NATION appropriated $6,500,000 to elevate the guns of the American fleet and to make them equal in range the guns of England's fleet, admitted by England to be superior to ours.

A fighting ship with guns of shorter range is helpless against a long range enemy, a child can understand that. The enemy sinks you before your guns get into action.

But England objected to the raising of our guns and increasing their range. It would be a violation of the Washington agreement, said England, equivalent to increasing the naval power that Balfour allowed us.

AND YOU have guessed it—Secretary Denby announces that the $6,500,000 won't be spent, the guns won't be elevated.

Congratulations to old England and her genuine statesmen.

It is child's play for them to stand our soft politicians on their heads.

Now if England can get us into a World Court, where she and the European Allies could outvote us five or six to one, everything would be perfect.

What this country seems to need is a guardian.

THE KING and Queen of England (other Kings and Queens don't interest high spirited Americans much), married off another son yesterday. The bride, formerly Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, was made a princess by the King's favor. Now she is the fourth lady of England—the Queen Mary first; Alexandra, the King's mother, next; Princess Mary, the King's daughter, third; Princess Elizabeth fourth.

What ambitious young American girl will take third place now and first place later, by marrying the Prince of Wales?

DOESN'T IT sound like a fairy tale? But the King and Princes in derby hats, the two Queens with modern clothes and the Princesses in sweaters with short legged terrier dogs

STORIES OF BOSTON TOWN

By Jo Swerling

WHEN FRANKIE BONO FINISHES BAITING HIS TUB OF TRAWL, he'll get a quarter. When he gets enough quarters, he'll go to Tomasso, who'll build him a fishing dory, and then Frankie will join the Italian fishing fleet and in a few years he'll own North End real estate.

THE TRAWL-BAITERS

All morning little Frank Bono sits on the wharf, his busy fingers flying. At his side is a tub of trawl and a keg of bait, crawly worms which wiggle frantically as Frankie slips them onto the hooks, as if they sense their fate. It is the sad destiny of the worm to be a brief luncheon for a fish so that the fish may be a brief luncheon for a human.

But the worm cannot complain, for burrowing in the slime and mud he finds still lower forms of life, which furnish for him a brief luncheon. In the scheme of things the worm has his place, for in his burrowing he renders the soil porous and permeable to the rain and air, thus adding to its fertility and permitting grass to grow, which furnishes pasturage for kine, which in turn eat their way to the abbatoir, where they are transformed to steaks and cutlets for man, who in turn—

Little Frank Bono sits in the sun all morning, his busy fingers flying. A trawl tub contains a thousand hooks. For every trawl tub that Frankie baits he gets 25 cents. He saves his quarters. As he sits and baits he dreams of the day when all his accumulated quarters will buy him a fishing dory. Then he can pay some other kid a quarter to bait his trawl and he will go out and fish, and after a few years he will have a fleet of fishing ships and plenty of real estate.

Boatmen for 300 Years

Tomasso will build the fishing boat for Frankie when Frankie has enough quarters. Tomasso is the official boat builder for the Sicilians and Calabrians who man the boats. They are descendants of a line of boatmen for three hundred years and the boats designed by Tomasso resemble ancient Phoenician craft. In appearance these boats are the same boats that plied the seas in the days of Ninevah and Tyre. The sputter of the engines is the only note of modernity that bridges the centuries.

About twenty years ago two Sicilians, brothers, in the North End, working as laborers, were laid off in Sicily they had been fishermen and they turned to their old profession for a livelihood. They went down to old T Wharf, which was the Boston fish market in those days. There they met the late John R. Neal, the daddy of New England fisheries, and patron saint of the Italian fishermen.

John R. gave them credit for a dory, two pair of oars and some gear. The bill came to $30, and a few days of fishing brought enough money to pay it. The same two Sicilian brothers today own $100,000 worth of North End real estate and the industry which they started is a big factor in the fish industry of Boston, with an investment of a quarter of a million dollars.

The Italian fishing fleet makes its headquarters at the Eastern packet pier—a tiny section of wharfage left in the basin between T and Commercial wharves when Atlantic avenue was built and the docks west of the street were filled in. The choicest ground fish the Boston receives is brought in by the Italian fleet. They are caught just off shore all the way from Sandwich to Cape Ann, and go into the market the same day they're caught, a few hours after they're taken, wriggling, from the trawls.

Frankie Becomes Champion of Wharf

Frankie and his confreres in the trawl-baiting end of the industry can bait a tub of trawl with a skill and speed that would put a Gloucester boy to shame. Frankie began baiting trawl for his father at the age of five, and in six years has acquired such speed and skill that he is today the acknowledged champion of the wharf.

For all the world the wharf looks like a little seaport town in Italy. Sometimes there are as many as 200 dories tied to the wharf. The hook-baiters wear jackets of different colors, and the fishermen sport tinted hats, range from pale lemon to striking red. Most of the fishermen are graduate trawl-baiters, and to be a fisherman is the ambition of every one of the kids that bait the trawls.

It's a lively and lively picture on the wharf. Here is one industry which seems to be more recreation than work. There is a spirit of gaiety, of carnival. Everybody seems to be having a good time—everybody but the worms.

RAILROADS IN RUHR BOMBED

French Foil Plot to Run the Customs Barrier and Seize Goods

Dusseldorf, April 27 (By the Associated Press).—Five separate bomb explosions on the Ruhr railroads during the night cut railway, telegraph and telephone communications, temporarily disorganizing traffic.

French headquarters said the explosions had caused the most serious damage since the beginning of the occupation.

During the confusion the Germans made a series of efforts to run the customs barrier into interior Germany, but large quantities of goods which the Germans were trying to get through were seized by the French.

TROOPS IN PERIL.

The explosions tore up sections of track and blew down the wires alongside, in addition to the case, near Bomann, a French troop train, heavily loaded, had a narrow escape. The explosion cut the line from the eastern Ruhr to Dusseldorf, which is much used for troop movements and the carriage of supplies. Four other lines were cut in the vicinity of Hattingen.

The destruction will delay transportation several days while the damage is being repaired.

Besides these cases of violence the French authorities report an attempt was made to wreck a passenger train near Mayence by placing huge pieces of iron and steel on the tracks.

The German effort to run the French customs barrier into unoccupied Germany resulted in the largest haul of merchandise made since the occupation. The French seized six motor trucks loaded with bolts of silk valued at 15,000,000,000 marks, that had just left the silk mills near Vowinkel.

CAUGHT IN "TRAP."

The Germans claim a trap had been set for them in this case. They asserted a Frenchman came to them and offered for a consideration to show how the customs blockade could be run along a certain road left unguarded at night, but that when the silk caravan they arranged to send arrived at this road a detachment of French soldiers surrounded the Germans and confiscated the entire outfit.

A truckload of scissors and knives and other fine cutlery from Solingen likewise was seized in the same manner in this district. This consignment was valued at 700,000,000,000 marks.

Two trainloads of goods also were seized last night while trying to run the gauntlet. The French at Aplerbeck got 19 cars loaded with coal and merchandise consigned to Berlin, while the Belgians at Glaubeck seized a trainload of manufactured articles.

AMERICANS TOLD TO QUIT SIBERIA

Harbin, Manchuria, April 27 (By the Associated Press).—S. Pinkey Tuck, American Consul at Vladivostok, has announced he is leaving the Soviet Far Eastern capital with his staff May 1, and has advised all Americans in the country to do likewise, according to advices received today.

It was stated that Vice-Consul Edward B. Thomas, stationed at Chita, is leaving on the same date.

LONE GUARD FOILS 18 IN JAIL DELIVERY

St. Louis, April 27 (By Associated Press).—Eighteen prisoners, armed with iron bars and clubs, who attempted to escape from the City Workhouse today, were overcome by a single guard, and as a result six are at the City Hospital suffering from buckshot wounds in the legs, and the remaining are in solitary confinement.

GIRL IS SAVED BY MULLAH'S CURSE

MOLLY ELLIS

MOTHER SLAIN BEFORE EYES OF CAPTIVE GIRL

Silma, British India, April 27.—The curse of a Mullah, or Mohametan religious leader, saved Molly Ellis, youthful daughter of the British commander at Kohat from a life of captivity among Afridi tribesmen in the Tirah country.

Captured with her mother, the girl watched a giant Afridi, Shahazada, kill her mother and then was half carried and half driven over steep rocky paths of seashore to the hills above Kohat, where for four days she watched truck loads of searchers scouring the district every side of her.

Came then a nightmare of traveling and riding that came to a climax when, with her feet lacerated from the rocks, she fell fainting atop a snow filled mountain pass. Shahazada drew his dagger, but was restrained from killing her by his companions.

Friendly tribesmen were making a search for the girl when Kuli Kahn, a native official, reached the home of Mahmud Akhundzeda, the Mullah. Through pressure he learned the whereabouts of the captive and arranged for her to be brought to the Mullah's house.

Meanwhile, a Mrs. Starr, woman physician, headed another relief party that reached Kaukl Bazaar, the Mullah's home, at the same time. There was a joyful reunion of the women.

The tribesmen stood about meekingly as the women embraced. Shahazada, glowering at the older woman, burst into rage when a courier informed him a friendly tribe of Afridi was attacking his native village and he seized Mrs. Starr and threw her from the room.

The Mullah called his henchmen, ordered the offending Afridi away and cursed them publicly for the insult to the sacred rights of hospitality under his roof. Then he arranged for her return to her friends.

PRESIDENT HARDING MAY VISIT MAINE

Portland, April 27.—President Harding will visit Maine this summer if the illness of Mrs. Harding should cause the cancellation of the Alaskan trip, Senator Hale said.

It was said that the trip would be made in the Presidential yacht and a tour of the coast is contemplated.

BOMB FIRED NEAR U. S. CONSULATE

Two Injured When Mine Is Exploded in Dublin by Republicans

Dublin, April 27.—Two pedestrians were wounded in O'Connell street shortly after 8 o'clock today when a mine exploded at the entrance to the Grand Cinema Theatre, which is near the United States consulate.

The mine had been planted by three men and two women who drove up in an automobile. One of the persons wounded is believed to have been a member of the party which blew up the theatre.

A big hole was torn in the street, the theatre wrecked and nearby buildings damaged.

Two Free State officers have been killed in isolated fighting with Republicans in Kerry. Additional women prisoners, who have been on hunger strike, were released today by the Free Staters.

15 MEN STEAL 20 BARRELS OF WHISKEY

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—Fifteen men held up guards at the W. B. Samuels distillery, near Bardstown, Ky., early today and carried away twenty barrels of whisky in a stolen truck, according to reports received by federal prohibition officers here.

DECREE IS RULED AS ILLEGAL

Bulgarian High Court Upholds Decision of Department of Religion

Sofia, April 27 (By Associated Press).—The high administrative court of Bulgaria has handed down a decision involving the definite closing of the Unitarian Church at Dubnitza, the pastor of which, M. Toplinsky, issued a divorce to former United States Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire.

The Unitarian Church at Dubnitza, Bulgaria, was closed not long after its pastor granted former Senator Hollis a divorce in March, 1922.

The Department of Religion and Education of the Bulgarian Foreign Office, in taking this action, announced that the church was not officially recognized by the State.

The department also said that the decree possessed no legal force.

On March 21, 1922, Mr. Hollis was married to Miss Anne White Hobbs of Concord, N. H., at the American Methodist Church in Rome. The civil rites were performed at Municipal Councillor Serrao, as acting mayor of Rome.

HIDDEN ROOM HOUSES STILL IN SO. BOSTON

After the police seized a giant still in operation in a secret chamber at No. 394 West Broadway, South Boston, they found Clementa Margolski, occupant of the house, had disappeared.

Margolski conducts a wall paper establishment. The room in which the still and the liquor were found was camouflaged by wall paper pasted on the wall to conceal the door.

The raiding party, composed of Sergeants Flaherty, Travers and Sullivan and Patrolmen Wedder and O'Keefe, were about to give up the search when one of them discovered the hidden door. Margolski, who was present when the police began the search, could not be found after the liquor plant was discovered.

The seizure included 1,000 gallons of mash, 31 gallons of moonshine and a 100-gallon still in full operation. The police poured gasoline and other substances into the mash to render it unfit for use, and left it on the premises.

BEVERLY CHILD FOUND DEAD IN WATER

Beverly, April 27.—Five-year-old Milton Corbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Corbett of No. 192 Rantoul street, was drowned in the waters to the rear of the local railroad depot.

His body was sighted on the mud flats by employes of the Beverly Gas & Electric Company on River street.

Milton, as had been his custom, journeyed to the electric company premises to wait for his father and walk home with him. Discovering that he was at the shops too early the youth diverted his attention to an old boat tied up beside the railroad tracks.

Mr. Corbett, in the meanwhile, had returned home. When told that his son had gone to meet him he retraced his course. Unable to find the boy he spread the alarm and a searching party was organized.

Hours later the body was sighted. Footprints from the youth's shoes led to the empty boat.

The medical examiner will perform an autopsy.

Fire Heroine

BLANCHE BATES

Philadelphia, April 27.—Alarmed at the sound of fire engines responding to a small blaze in the Academy of Music across the street, members of the audience in the Broad street theatre became restless, and some made breaks for the door.

"There's no fire in this theatre," a calm voice announced from the stage. "And what the hell would you do if there were?"

The heroine of the episode was Blanche Bates. When the theatre manager's voice failed to reach the audience, she took things in hand and suppressed the excitement.

"I don't want them to crab my act," she remarked to a companion when she left the stage.

following them, seem to lack the ancient flavor.

What would Richard the Lion Hearted, or fat, powerful, dominant Henry the Eighth think of his successors in office—terrorized by Labor members.

FLEISCHACKER, Stanton Fremont Older and others of the San Francisco figaters, say that San Francisco must have a national convention again in 1924, or, better still, two, one Republican, one Democratic.

It is probable that every Democratic delegate of 1920 would like a return trip to San Francisco, and there is no doubt that taking politicians out of their Eastern nests and limitations, all across the continent, to the wonderful Pacific, is just the education they need. It ought to make them realize that this is a nation worthy of something better than a peanut, hand-picked candidate.

WHEN THEY do reach the Pacific, the political gentlemen should be taken along the coast the full 1,000-mile length of California and on as far north as the last foot of United States soil.

Oregon and Washington would make the Eastern district leader ask himself: "Is it possible for any country to be as great as this?"

If you haven't seen America yet, go out West and see it. There is a great deal of it.

SUGAR STILL climbs higher.

And the newspapers representing gamblers in food stuffs toll Attorney-General Daugherty "if you interfere with sugar gambling, you'll close the Sugar Exchange, and then sugar will jump from 10 cents to 20 cents a pound." It is a defiant statement that the gamblers are more powerful than the government.

The prices will toll.

ENGLAND DOES not exactly like Russia's government, her rulers, her executions of clergymen—but all that must not interfere with business. You read that President Harding has ordered five hundred refugees admitted to the United States. Other nations refused to take them in because they had taken up arms against Russia's established government.

AT THE same time you read that England has established a regular flying machine service from London to Moscow, via Berlin.

Leaving England after breakfast, the traveler will dine in Berlin that day.

FLYING TIME from London to Moscow is to be thirty-six hours. London to Berlin fare $30. All that means a good deal to the thoughful owner of railroad stocks. No wear and tear on rail or wheel, with flying machines, no track walkers.

AUTO SPEEDERS BREAK YOUTH'S BACK; ESCAPE

Speeding through the deserted streets early today, a large touring car, occupied by a group of boisterous men, ran down and seriously injured Edward Braslin, eighteen years old, No. 7 Hammond street, Somerville.

Braslin was alighting from a street car at Concord avenue and Beacon street, Cambridge, when the automobile raced past, carrying the youth nearly 100 feet, before he fell clear of the automobile and rolled to the side of the street unconscious, and his clothes torn from him.

S. Payion, operator of a one-man street car, gathered Braslin up and made a record run to the Cambridge Relief Hospital.

Braslin was found to have received a broken back and was terribly bruised.

The license number of the car is not known.

ADVENTURE NO. 14 ENDED BY POLICE

The fourteenth adventure of ten-year-old Alfred Tigges of No. 348 Border street, East Boston, ended today when a police sergeant awakened him in an East Boston garage and took him to the station house.

The lad was asleep in an auto truck in the garage of Michael Shannon, No. 65 Liverpool street, when the sergeant found him. According to the police, the boy has a mania for leaving home on pilgrimages around Boston.

The little adventurer was given a good feed by the policemen and taken home.

LEGION WARNS OF REDS' PLAN FOR MAY DAY.

Indianapolis, April 27.—A radical demonstration on May 1 that would disgrace the nation, if achieved, is developing under direction of Communist and revolutionary organizations in this country, declares Garland W. Powell, national director of the American commission of the American Legion, in a statement concerning the observance of Americanism Day received by all local organizations of the legion.

Americanism Day was established by the fourth national convention of the legion for the Friday preceding the first of May of each year, as an offset to the "May Day" of the radicals.

"The Communist and revolutionary party of this country, nine-tenths of which is composed of foreign-born, has fixed this annual observance of May Day as the time for concentration propaganda against law and order," says Powell.

"The I. W. W. have called a general strike all over this country. In the Pacific Northwest the men are to strike for white sheets and pillow slips in all lumber camps and for the release of all so-called political prisoners by the federal government.

"A recent I. W. W. bulletin discloses that the real object of the strike is to paralyze the lumber industry and strike a heavy blow at law and order in the Pacific Northwest.

"In New York, Boston, Baltimore, Los Angeles and San Francisco the revolutionaries have posted their slogan on all waterfronts. It read: 'Let us awaken, rise up and show the might that is ours.'

"The aim is to confuse, delay and, if possible, paralyze ocean traffic.

"This is just one fraction of the revolutionary May Day program. The orders of the Third Internationale, inspired from Moscow, are designed to start walkouts and revolutionary disorders all over the world, wherever settled government and orderly society prevails."

Asserts That Ancient "New Testament" Omits "Hell"

New York, April 27.—An old controversy flared up today among biblical and Latin scholars over the assertion of Dr. E. S. Buchanan, former manuscript curator of the Hispanic Society of America, that he has discovered a second century version of the New Testament.

The New York Times quotes Dr. Buchanan as saying the new version furnished no basis for belief in the Day of Judgment, the end of the world, or mention of baptism and hell, and assigns to woman a more superior place than previously accepted versions.

Dr. Buchanan's text was taken from vellum manuscript known as the Codex Huntingtonianus Palimpsestus, supposedly brought here after it was stolen from a Spanish monastery.

SON OF MOODY KNOCKED OUT FOR 3D TIME

Calexico, Cal., April 27.—Robert Moody, said to be a son of the late Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, was found unconscious in the doorway of a business house here. The police said he apparently had been sandbagged and pronounced his condition serious.

He was taken to a hospital when efforts to restore consciousness were unsuccessful.

This is the third time within a year that Moody has been found in a similar condition. The police say they have no clew to his assailant, but express the opinion that the same man was responsible for all three attacks.

Offers $25 for Lost Hubby, Then Says 'No Man's Worth It'

Chicago, April 27.—Mrs. Morris Hirschfield offered $25 reward for the return of her husband, missing three weeks, but no one delivered him.

In Domestic Relations Court she reneged on the reward and declared "no man is worth $25."

Someone had called her up on the phone and told her that a man resembling her husband had been living in a flat with an affinity. She investigated and found it was true.

BODY OF RUM SHIP VICTIM TO BE EXHUMED

The body of the victim of the sunken rum ship John Dwight, identified first as James A. Cronan of Cambridge and then as James A. Cravan of Rutherford, N. J., was to be exhumed today from its grave in Cambridge Cemetery for an autopsy.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading ordered an autopsy by Medical Examiner John Dow of Cambridge to determine the cause of death.

If the autopsy reveals foul play, the District Attorney is prepared to summon certain known rum runners and others as witnesses at a hearing.

The body was one of the eight recovered after the John Dwight went down off Vineyard Sound on the morning of April 6 last. It was identified as "Cronan" by a man representing himself as a brother of the victim. Later the same man asked Medical Examiner Worth of Vineyard Haven for a new death certificate under the name of Craven, claiming that he had given the false name to protect the family, but had been forced to reveal its identity because of life insurance complications.

Cambridge police claimed that the fingers of the body had been burned to prevent 'the taking of finger prints. It was also declared that the eyes had been likewise mutilated. The victim's "brother," it was reported from Vineyard Haven, admitted that mutilation had been deliberate.

If John Barrymore played Hamlet in Overalls!

HE would be a flat failure because the attention of the audience would be distracted from his abilities as an actor by the incongruous appearance of his clothes.

It is the same in other walks of life, too. Even business success begins in the wardrobe. You must look the part as well as play it.

And so your best cue is to patronize The Store for Men where clothes are a part of the larger plan of promoting a man's possibilities through the medium of style and saving him money through the medium of service.

Topcoats and Suits Modeled and Tailored for a Mutually Successful Spring

A New Color Note from London

The manager of the Men's Suit Section in The Store for Men, who has just returned from Europe, tells me that a new color is being woven into the new woolens coming through from the English mills this year!

It is like royal blue with more purple in it, and it appears in the new tweeds and Saxonys, in unfinished worsteds, and in checks and stripes—not obtrusive but cleverly combined with browns, tans and grays.

"Not in years," he said, "have the British mills produced such fine woolens as this season and, of course, I bought generously many exclusive patterns that will be made up into suits and coats in our own tailoring shops."

The speaker, by the way, is only one of twenty-seven representatives of Jordan Marsh Company organization who have visited Europe so far this year!

Yours for Better Apparel

John Copley

12 DEAD IN FIRE IN NEW YORK TENEMENT

fire victims dropping to the roof of the car, and from there to the ground. Many of the injured were taken to hospitals in the same cab.

Many more persons would have been trapped by the flames, according to the police, had it not been for Michael Kaufman, a city employe living across from the burned tenement, who discovered the fire.

Seeing smoke and flames shooting from a fourth floor window, Kaufman telephoned a fire alarm and immediately rushed across the street into the burning building and ran through the halls of the five floors blowing a police whistle between shouts of "Fire."

As he fled from the building the rapidly spreading flames enveloped the wooden stairways, driving the forty or more tenants still in the building to seek safety through the windows or on the fire escapes.

With the arrival of the fire department, which had been called by three alarms, a half dozen men and women were found to be hanging from window sills and were brought to safety after thrilling rescues.

A number of persons who stood at windows, their forms silhouetted against the flames behind them, were only prevented from jumping from the fourth and fifth floors by the encouraging shouts of firemen who hastily ran up aerial ladders and carried them to the street.

PRICE OF GASOLINE DOWN ANOTHER CENT

New York, April 27.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today announced another cut of one cent a gallon in the price of gasoline. This is the second cut within a week, and is due, the company states, to a surplus production.

The Texas Company and Gulf Refining Company also announced reductions of one cent a gallon in their territories.

3 BOATS OF WRECKED LINER REACH PORT

Walfish Bay, Southwest Africa, April 27. (By the Associated Press)—Three boats belonging to the wrecked Portuguese steamship Mossamedes have arrived at Port Alexander, Angola.

The Mossamedes was wrecked at Cape Frio Wednesday in a gale and abandoned by passengers and crew numbering in all, it was reported, 237 souls, including 29 women and 26 children.

Gordon Guardian

JOHN M. O'DONOGHUE.

Attorney John M. O'Donoghue of Lowell has assumed his new duties as guardian ad litem of Dorothy Gordon, the $500,000 heiress in McLean Insane Hospital. He succeeds Frank Paul, who died recently. He was appointed by Judge John Legate of Middlesex Probate Court, after a conference at which the opposing interests in the Gordon guardianship contest were present. The hearing on the guardianship proceedings will be resumed next Wednesday.

MUSIC AND FILMS AT BRAVES FIELD

Evening concerts and movies will be given on Braves Field beginning Monday, May 28.

A contract was signed at New York today between Marcus Loew, owner of vaudeville and picture theatres, and representatives of the Boston National Baseball Club for Summer evening concerts on the Braves' big playing ground. The programs will include band concerts, moving pictures and concert artists.

Those involved in the contract for the club include President Christy Mathewson, Treasurer Emil Fuchs, Secretary Edwin L. Riley, Manager Fred F. Mitchell, Mayor James M. Curley, Sinclair Weeks, J. Wells Farley, Cal P. Dennett, Meyer Bloomfield, Henry G. Latham, James McDermuch, Albert H. Powell, Ralph Stewart and others.

AMERICAN HELD BY MEXICANS ESCAPES

Mexico City, April 27.—Oliver W. Krull, the American mining engineer who was kidnaped from a Durango mining camp on April 6, escaped from the bandits who held him prisoner at a place called Coeta, state of Durango, according to a story he told upon his arrival at Gomez Palacio.

He said he was well treated after his capture, although he suffered from cold and hunger on long forced marches. The kidnapers first attempted to force Krull to appeal to the United States government for a ransom of $100,000. When the bandits were convinced that this demand was impossible of realization they agreed to permit Krull to ask his relatives for a $5,000 reward for his return.

Krull shared a life of hardship for two weeks and then managed to escape. He wandered afoot for some time without food until he encountered a detachment of Federal troops.

HOLD THREE AS RADIO THIEVES IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, April 27.—Two Boston men and a third man from Quincy, are in the hands of the police, who assert they are the outside operators for the radio gang of thieves which has stolen thousands of dollars' worth of radio and other electrical equipment from merchants all over the State.

The three under arrest are Thomas Eagan, twenty-seven years old, of Brookline street, Roxbury; Constantine Murphy, twenty-one years old, of Delle street, Roxbury, and Frank E. Taylor of Edison street, Quincy.

They were held in District Court today in $1,000 bail for hearing tomorrow on charges of larceny from local radio dealers.

The police say three Lynn merchants identified them as having been in their stores just before merchandise was missed. Lowell radio men who had reported goods stolen have been asked to look the men over. The police are also trying to connect them with a heavy theft of radio goods and electric supplies recently in Springfield.

GILLETT LINES UP FOR WORLD COURT

Springfield, April 27.—Aligning himself with the President in support of a permanent court of international justice, Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, addressing a regional conference of Republican women here today, declared such a court "is an advance and a natural sequence to the practise of arbitration between nations which we have always planted ourselves was an American policy." Mr. Gillett said the nation would not be compelled in any way to be even a partial member of the league.

IMPOSSIBLE TO KILL LAW, UPSHAW SAYS

The difficulties of repealing the prohibition law are practically insurmountable and the attempt would prove futile, Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia declared at a public meeting held by the Prohibition Foundation in People's Temple.

Mr. Upshaw deplored the efforts of the Massachusetts Congressmen, George Holden Tinkham and James A. Gallivan to obtain a repeal as both tragic and comical.

AGED WOMAN IS BADLY BITTEN BY STRAY DOG

Mrs. Mary Courtenanche, eighty-year-old widow, is in a serious condition at her home, No. 81 Prescott street, East Boston, as a result of a dog bite.

Mrs. Courtenanche was leaving the home of a friend on Putnam street, East Boston, when the dog leaped at her and sunk his fangs into both ankles. She went to her home and on the following morning her feet and legs were badly swollen.

Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, who treated her, feared she might have been bitten by a rabies-infected dog. A search disclosed the animal had been buried somewhere in Porter street dump, so today police began digging to find the dog so that the head may be examined for traces of the disease.

One boy was bitten by another, a second boy was bitten by a dog, and a young man was bitten by a horse, all so seriously that they were sent to the City Hospital for treatment.

John Pushworth, twelve years old, of No. 478 Shawmut avenue, South End, was treated at the City Hospital after, he said, he had been bitten on the left shoulder by a boy companion during a row at Springfield and Washington streets, South End.

William Blackie, 23 years old, of No. 23 Fountain street, Roxbury, was bitten by his horse on the left arm.

Five-year-old Matthew McGovern of No. 26 Savin Hill avenue, Dorchester, is the latest victim of the vicious dog epidemic in Boston. He was bitten several times on his right arm, near his home.

DUKE AND BRIDE ARE AWAY ON HONEYMOON

London, April 27.—The Duke of York and his bride, formerly Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of a Highland Chieftain, are today on their honeymoon, while all London is still discussing the regal splendor of the wedding itself.

As the Duchess of York the Duke's bride is now the fourth lady of the land.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, spiritual head of the Church of England, performed the ceremony.

At the reception after the ceremony, Queen Mary said to one of her close friends:

"Last year I feared I was going to lose my daughter, but now I have two instead."

The Prince of Wales was the "life and soul of the party" at the wedding breakfast. The Duke of York chaffed his older brother saying: "It's your turn next, old chap."

The Prince smiled and shook his head in the negative.

For the second time within two years, the people have seen the children of King George and Queen Mary wed their "own true loves." On the last day of February last year, Princess Mary, only daughter of their majesties, became Princess Mary, Viscountess of Lascelles, bride of the heir to the earldom of Harewood, one of the oldest titles in the country.

FIRE CHIEF IN 3-HOUR QUIZ ON SPOONING

Action on the charges that Fire Chief John P. Doyle was spooning with a local girl in an unlighted sedan off Cliff road, Wellesley Hills, will be taken by the Wellesley board of selectmen at a future meeting, it was announced.

The fire chief, his accuser, Patrolman David Gallery, and Police Chief Harry Kingsbury were closeted with the selectmen for three hours at a private hearing of the board.

QUICK THINKING SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

Beverly, April 27.—Quick thinking was all that saved Mrs. Anna F. Lovett of No. 64 Cabot street from death when the auto which she was driving got out of control, crashing through the railing over a twenty-five foot embankment. The front wheels of the car rolled over the edge, but before the machine could plunge further she jammed on the emergency brake and brought the car to a stop. Unstrung by her experience she was taken to her home by a passing autoist.

DRIVES AUTO INTO POND AND SLAYS WIFE BY DROWNING

HELD HELPLESS IN SHALLOW WATER TILL DEATH CAME

New Britain, Ct., April 27.—Arrested on a charge of murder a month after the crime, John A. Carlson, a plumbing contractor of this city, was held without bonds today.

Carlson was locked up after he made a confession that he killed his wife Gertrude on March 24, according to the police.

Mrs. Carlson was believed to have been drowned when an automobile went down an embankment and overturned into a pond on the Berlin road between this city and Hartford. Carlson had told the police that his wife was driving the machine at the time.

The police conducted an investigation and when they confronted Carlson with evidence they had gathered, he is said to have admitted the charges.

In his statement, the police say, Carlson told of driving to Hartford with his wife where they looked at fur coats in several stores.

A quarrel followed his refusal to purchase a $500 coat and finally she accepted one costing $150.

On the drive home Carlson is said to have told the police, the quarrel continued and he became more wrathful. At the foot of a hill, the police say, Carlson deliberately drove the car over an embankment. The machine overturned and both were thrown into shallow water.

Then, Carlson is said to have admitted, he placed a cushion on his wife's head and chest and sat on it, holding her beneath the surface of the pond. He sat there until her struggles ceased, according to his statement, and then went to the highway and obtained assistance.

He rode to a hospital in an ambulance with his wife's body and told officers that the accident occurred when his wife lost control of the car.

Carlson and his wife were married twenty-four years ago. Two sons aged nineteen and fifteen, live in this city.

Carlson pleaded not guilty today in police court to a charge of murder. His case was continued to next Tuesday.

MONTANA DEAL COST DOCTOR $150,000

Among the 300,000 persons who have lost part or all of their life's savings in the Boston-Montana stock deal are said to be five prominent and wealthy Boston men.

A prominent Back Bay physician, whose offices are on Commonwealth avenue, is reported to have lost $150,000 when the stock on the curb began to drop.

Four Boston men lost $250,000, which they had pooled to invest in Boston-Montana stock.

Large blocks of the bogus stock are known to have been marketed in Providence.

Mrs. Phillips Washington Hostess at Dinner, Says Betty Alden

Miss Barbara Little is of the clever cast of "Rush and Wrangle," the musical comedy which the Vincent Club is presenting at the Plymouth Theatre this week.

By BETTY ALDEN.

"BEAUVOIR," the Washington place of the William Phillipses, has been the scene of numerous entertainments since Mr. Phillips' appointment as Under Secretary of State.

Boston has seen very little of Mrs. John G. Phillips' son since he began his diplomatic career. For several years he and his family were in Holland, where Mr. Phillips was minister to the Netherlands. He's a Harvard man of the 1900 class, and is a member of the Somerset, Tennis and Racquet, and Myopia Clubs here. Mrs. Phillips was formerly Miss Caroline Astor Drayton of New York. Last Summer the family spent on the North Shore at Beverly Farms, Mr. Phillips joining them whenever possible.

The other evening the Phillipses gave a dinner at "Beauvoir," their guests including among others the Italian ambassador, Prince Caetani, and the Persian minister, Mirza Hussein Khan Alai.

MR. AND MRS. MOSES B. L. BRADFORD, whose place in Concord is known as "Field Head," have been spending a few days in New York at the Hotel Lorraine.

THE Boston colony at Hot Springs was considerably increased the other day by a party including Mrs. Reginald H. Fitz and Miss Edith Fitz, Mrs. Marshall Fabyan with Miss Eleanor Brooks Fabyan and Miss Ellen B. Dalton. Mrs. Fabyan is a sister of Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth (Ruby McCormick), who, with Mr. Hollingsworth, recently sailed abroad.

BARBARA LITTLE'S tall and slender height adds not a little to the Vincent show's personnel. She's of the fairly large group of debs of the past season helping to make a success of "Rush and Wrangle," the clever musical comedy which the Vincent Club presents this week at the Plymouth Theatre.

Besides being a "chorus man," Miss Little—she's the daughter of the J. Lowell Littles—takes part in the Russian dance as well as the Aurora Borealis number, one of the most gorgeous features of the show. There's still a chance to see it tomorrow afternoon and evening.

MR. AND MRS. EFFINGHAM LAWRENCE gave a luncheon at White Sulphur Springs the other day for Miss Alice Sargent and Mrs. Frank Bemis of Boston, who returned North shortly afterwards.

MR. AND MRS. IRA NELSON MORRIS, after a stay of several days in New York, have come on to their place on the North Shore at Manchester-by-the-Sea. This place, known as "Eagle Head," is one of the finest estates along the shore. Mr. Morris, the former minister to Sweden, recently paid a visit to that country.

HUGHES PROBES FIRING ON U. S. SCHOONER

Washington, April 27.—Frederick M. Ryder, American consul at Vancouver was instructed by Secretary Hughes to investigate the firing on the American schooner Siloam by a Canadian fisheries patrol, which resulted in the death of J. M. Yorke, a member of the Siloam's crew.

Consul Ryder telegraphed the department confirming reports that the schooner had been fired on and said Yorke was said to be an American citizen.

According to reports the Siloam failed to stop at the first signals from the patrol vessel, which then fired a solid shot into the craft. The Siloam was accused of packing on prohibited fishing waters, but until Consul Ryder definitely establishes the facts, the State Department will not decide what action, if any, should be taken.

GIRL DROPS SUIT AGAINST RUTH

Dolores Dixon.

Dixon, Mrs. Barbara V. Eschoe, Ruth's guardian, and George Fein berg, her attorney. The witness who was to have appeared today is Robert McChesney.

In a statement to newspapermen Ruth's lawyer said:

"I told reporters when the case first started it was blackmail. Now I shall prove it. I have a confession signed by plaintiff and witnessed to as notary public by Mr. Feinberg, her attorney. Father Ruth is not the father of her child and that he never seduced her.

"The information I have I shall turn over to the proper authorities for action.

AWAIT RUTH'S ACTION.

"Just what action we shall take depends upon Ruth's orders. I telephoned to him this morning in Boston and informed him of the developments of the case. Tonight I leave for Boston to consult with him on what steps we shall take against the perpetrators of this suit."

Bushell said the first intimation he received that they "were to consent to allow McChesney's testimony to become public" was at 3 a. m.

"They called me at my house at that hour and informed me that they wished to drop the suit," Bushell said.

"I told them that I wanted written confessions and a signed discontinuance before I listened to the offer. Both the signed confession and the discontinuance were handed me."

Bushell declined to say who "they" were.

The testimony of Robert McChesney, now in Tombs prison, was to be used today by Attorney Bushel for Ruth. In an affidavit submitted to court he says, "that said Robert McChesney, according to his statement, resided for some time in the apartment occupied by Barbara V. Eccos and her husband, and while there, became very familiar with the actions of the plaintiff, Dolores Dixon."

The affidavit states McChesney is willing to testify and "its able to show by his testimony that the whole action is the result of a malicious conspiracy between the plaintiff and certain other persons."

HARVARD SOPH SAVED BY NEW REMEDY

A nineteen-year-old Harvard Sophomore was saved from death by an injection of insulin, like adrenalin a derivative from the ductless glands, according to announcement today by Dr. Louis C. Johnson of Long Island College, New York.

Coincident with this it became known that Dr. Johnson has been scoring remarkable success in the treatment of diabetes with insulin. Three patients were believed dying when treated and now are apparently on the road to recovery.

Speaking of his patients, Dr. Johnson said: "It is too early yet to claim that insulin effects an absolute cure. We cannot tell whether our patients have been permanently cured until two or three years have passed.

"One was the case of a Harvard boy. His physician feared he would go into coma and die. I gave him injections of insulin for five days. He has been back to college for two weeks.

"A girl of fourteen was also brought here on the verge of coma. Death seemed certain. We injected insulin. In a few hours she had improved marvelously. The third cure was that of a woman of sixty, dying from gangrene. We had to amputate one leg but without insulin she would surely have died. The results we have been using comes from the pancreas of an ox."

FASCISTI WRECK LABOR CHAMBER

Palmero, Sicily, April 27 (By Associated Press)—The Fascisti here, indignant at a communique issued by the Socialists and Communists denouncing the actions of the government for suppressing the labor holiday of May 1, attacked the Palermo Chamber of Labor last night. The interior of the building was sacked and the furniture hauled out and set on fire.

MOVES TO BLOCK RENT BOOST ORGY

In order to forestall an orgy of rent increases in Fall River and other industrial centres where textile operatives have been granted an increase in wages, Representative John T. Farrell of Fall River, today petitioned the Legislature to continue the 25 per cent. rent law in effect for at least another year.

The law says that any landlord who increases the rent in excess of 25 per cent. in any twelve-month period shall be found guilty of extortion.

The Commission on the Necessaries of Life has said that it is the least effective of the rent laws because some unscrupulous landlords have interpreted it to justify a 25 per cent. rent increase every year. This law is doomed to expire July 1, unless Representative Farrell's plea is granted. All other rent laws have been extended.

"There is every evidence," said Farrell, "that the landlords are entering upon an orgy of arbitrary rent boosting. Many of the landlords fear this law and are waiting only for it to expire. It should be kept as a club over their heads."

BETSY ROSS,' 101, PASSES AWAY

Somerville's "Betsy Ross," Mrs. Mary Jane Whitney, the oldest inmate of the Home for the Aged in that city, died today after an illness of several weeks, death being due to old age. She would have been 102 years old in July had she lived. She had lived at the Somerville home at No. 7 Grand View for twenty-two years.

Mrs. Mary Whitney.

Mrs. Whitney has been called the "Betsy Ross" of Somerville, because for more than twenty years she has mended the flags that fly on all municipal buildings in that city. The deceased was a native of Hallowell, Me., where she was born July 8, 1821, and was a descendant of Revolutionary stock, her father having fought in the war of 1812 and her grandfather, Captain John Couch, fought in the Revolution. Her husband, who died in 1865, fought in the Civil War.

LODGER FOUND DEAD IN SOUTH END ROOM

Mark J. Killian, fifty-nine, a lodger in Room 9 at No. 265 Shawmut avenue, South End, was found dead today on the floor of the room by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Killian. The police, who report that Killian had been drinking, notified Medical Examiner Leary and he ordered the body taken to the South Morgue.

The Ferris Symphony of Flavor

The delightful thing about Ferris Ham is that no one flavor predominates.

What you really enjoy is a symphony of flavors—sugary syrup and perky salt, toothsome nuts and fresh, fragrant greens—all intermingling with the sweet, natural juices of tender lean and savory fat.

Everyone describes it differently. Some can't describe it at all—except to say it is supremely delicious.

CRIMINALS RUN DOPE TRAFFIC, SAYS JUANITA

FEDERAL AGENTS TOO FEW TO PREVENT SALES

I have just come from the office of Federal Narcotic Director Allen of this district. I talked with Mr. Allen and with some of his operatives.

I want to congratulate New England upon the able men assigned to the important work of ridding the States of the drug evil.

I want to commiserate these men upon the pitifully small resources put at their disposal.

I have learned some amazing things about the way the government operates in the fight against drugs. In all the United States and her possessions, I find, there are less than 200 men assigned to narcotic-duty in the Federal end out of the work.

Juanita Hansen

The city of Boston alone could use that many men and still not completely uncover the drug traffic here.

Ten million dollars has been appropriated by the government to enforce the Volstead act. Only $750,000—less than one-tenth of this sum—is available for the fight to kill the drug traffic, which is a thousand times more deadly than the liquor traffic.

This situation cries to the heavens for immediate relief.

Federal narcotic agents, I have learned, get only $1,800 a year. They are held down on expenses. Against them are arraigned a ring of criminals with practically unlimited funds.

It is not for me to criticize. But I know how easy it was for me to get drugs—all sorts of drugs—in any city I ever visited. We cannot depend upon the city police to give any substantial aid in the drug fight. In the first place, it calls for a specialized knowledge. In the second place it calls for exclusive assignments to the drug traffic. In the third place, I know and everybody else knows that the political situation in most cities is such that the police are a joke when it comes to dealing with drug peddlers.

URGES BETTER PAY.

The work of narcotic investigations, arrests and prosecutions should be placed entirely in the hands of the Federal branch. There should be an immediate increase in the force of agents in every city. Agents should be paid at least twice what they get today.

The United States Army itself should be lined up in the fight against drugs.

There is still, in this country, a difference of opinion as to whether or not people should have the right to take a drink of liquor. There is no difference of opinion as to whether or not people should have the right to take drugs. It's against the law, and this is one law that the people want enforced. And as far as they are able to do it, the Federal agents are doing it—nobly, splendidly and efficiently. But their hands are tied by the ridiculously small salaries they get and the preposterously small appropriation placed at their disposal.

NATION ITSELF DRUGGED

Sometimes I think that the nation itself is drugged—drugged to a false sense of security. I get hundreds of letters, but who writes them? Drug addicts. Former drug addicts.

This problem concerns not them only, but the non-users of drugs. Right here in Boston is one of the most pitiful cases I ever heard of.

Will Become Bride

CORA CHASE.

It is the case of a girl who for years has fought a losing fight against drugs. Time after time dope landed this girl in police stations and in hospitals. She comes from a good and wealthy family.

Her parents are non-users of drugs. They are not addicts. But they are keenly, vitally interested in the crusade to eliminate narcotics.

Do you have to wait until YOUR daughter becomes an addict before you line up in this struggle to kill drugs?

(Another section from Miss Hansen's Page of Life in tomorrow's Boston American.)

OPERA STAR TO BE BRIDE OF NEWS WRITER

Haverhill, April 27.—Miss Cora Chase, known in operatic circles as a potential Patti or second Melba, and who three years ago attained the distinction of defying a European monarch, filed marriage intentions in City Hall with Samuel T. Williamson, Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

The wedding will probably be held in the North Congregational Church, Williamson's father at one time having preached from this parish pulpit. Their marriage will be the culmination of a school day romance.

While touring Europe with the Metropolitan Opera Company, Miss Chase disobeyed the King of Spain. The monarch, according to reports at the time, summoned her to have tea alone with him in his apartment. The singer flatly refused the invitation, stating that she would not call upon him without being accompanied by her mother.

Both Williamson and Miss Chase gave their ages as thirty-one years when filing their intentions.

CROWDS FLOCK TO HEAR MISS HANSEN

Manager Al. Somerby announces that up to Wednesday night Juanita Hansen's personal appearance in "A Page from Life" has shattered all records for attendance as far as the drawing power of motion picture stars are concerned at the Bowdoin Square Theatre.

Manager Somerby attributes the heavy attendance at the Bowdoin Square this week to the fact that Miss Hansen's offering is the first unusual novelty which has been presented in vaudeville for some time.

MOVIE FILMS OF BICYCLE CARNIVAL

See yourselves in the movies, cyclists!

Films are to be made of the Boston American's fourth annual bicycle carnival on Sunday afternoon, May 6. Riders who take part in the big bicycle parade from Copley Square to Franklin Field, a distance of six miles, will be filmed while on the way. Then they will have an opportunity to see how they looked by going to their favorite picture house a few days later.

All the leading film companies are planning to make motion pictures of the parade and of the various contests at Franklin Field following the procession for their news reels. The managers of the film companies realize that the Boston American's bicycle carnival will be the biggest event of its kind ever staged in this country and are planning accordingly. Throughout New England the pictures will be shown.

LOOK YOUR BEST.

Plan to look your best, cyclists, as your friends who are unfortunate enough to miss seeing you ride next week from Sunday, will have a chance later to watch you pedal by on the silver screen. And what a thrill it will give you as you sit in the darkened theatre shortly after the carnival and see yourself as others saw you! It will surely cause you to sit up a little straighter.

Judging from the interest in which the entries are pouring in for the bicycle editor the boys class, for excellence in riding, is going to contain the largest number of entrants. Boys from every section of Greater Boston and outlying cities and towns have sent their names in.

OUT TO WIN BICYCLE

Every one of these lads is out to win the dandy, first-quality "Spartan" bicycle that was donated as first prize by officials of The Hub Cycle Company of No. 19-27 Portland street, Boston.

And what a beauty the second prize is! A gold watch, contributed by The New Departure Mfg. Co., of Bristol, Ct. Any boy who wins either of these prizes will have something to be proud of. The same is true of the fine gold medal contributed as third prize in the boys class by Emblem Mfg. Co., of Arcola, N. Y. There are thirteen other good prizes in the boys class, including all sorts of bicycle accessories.

It's going to be a BIG DAY boys so rush those entries in NOW.

WIFE SAYS SON OF DAUGHERTY IS 'DRUNKARD'

Stamford, Ct., April 27.—On petition of his wife, Mrs. Jean B. Daugherty, Major Draper M. Daugherty, son of United States Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, and mentioned in connection with the Dorothy Keenan case, is today under treatment in Stamford Hall Sanitarium as an habitual drunkard and unfit to be at large.

The commitment is for not less than four months nor more than a year. Daugherty's record as a hard drinker shows the following indulgences:

He would take three or four drinks first thing on getting up in the morning.

The only period he has been without drink in many years was during a five months' treatment in one sanitarium.

He has been in two sanitariums. In one he had all the drink he wanted; in the other he had none.

He has drunk alcoholic liquors incessantly for years.

On arrest he would draw his personal checks when he knew his account did not have funds enough to meet the checks.

Major Daugherty acquiring publicity in the Dorothy Keenan case when it became known that he was acquainted with the model whose death still remains a murder mystery.

IMMIGRATION LAW RAPPED BY ALBERS

Dean Albers

Dean Homer Albers of Boston University Law School, in addressing freshmen students, declared "the present immigration law is unpracticable, unprofitable and un-American and should be materially modified. It bars from the country healthful, wide-awake and industrious men and women who would soon become good American citizens and be an asset."

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE DYING WIFE

Mrs. Sousa.

In an attempt to save the life of his dying wife, Alvaro Sousa of No. 21 North Worden street, East Boston, submitted to a blood transfusion at the City Hospital today. Mrs. Wilhelmina Sousa, twenty-three years old, has been dangerously ill at the hospital for six weeks. Physicians had given up hope of her recovery unless a transfusion could be arranged.

BRAVAS SEEK AID OF GARLAND FUND

Hope for a substantial contribution from the American Fund for Public Service, created by Charles Garland, for the defence of the three Bravo boys, serving twenty years in Plymouth jail for attacking Gertrude Butler, was held out yesterday when it became known that Attorney Lewis would appear before the committee Saturday in New York.

Benjamin Gomes, John Dies and Joseph Andrews, convicted of the attack in August, 1921, have motions pending for a new trial.

ROXBURY BOY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Four-year-old Malvin Scurry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scurry of No. 1 Newark street, was struck and injured by an automobile opposite No. 1390 Columbus avenue, Roxbury. He was removed to the City Hospital suffering from head wounds. The automobile was operated by Andrew Nichols.

EXPERT TELLS HOW TO CONTROL CHILDREN

"Build up a feeling of certainty in the child that in him reason shall rule in the switch tower and compel every reaction to pass out on its proper track," was the advise of Dr. Miner Evans of Boston City Hospital to the conference of the Somerville Teachers' Club.

WORK MADE EASIER ON NEW ASH TEAMS

New ash teams with sides opening downward have been ordered by Mayor James M. Curley as the result of complaints of World War veterans, working as ash collectors, that the lifting of barrels was excessively laborious. The J. J. Walsh company with a lowest bid of $9,625 will furnish the wagons. Technology students are to be asked to submit designs for a low set wagon.

HOUSE OF DAVID GIRLS MATED BY LOTTERY

St. Joseph, Mich., April 27.—Love and courtship have no place in marriages at the House of David colony at Benton Harbor, but, instead, marriageable girls are mated by a system of lottery in accordance with the rules of the cult, witnesses have told Judge Harry Dingeman, presiding as a Grand Jury.

The system was told by Benjamin Hill, thirty four years old, a lifelong member of the colony, who was called before the Grand Jury after he had been interrogated in an attempt to leave the country with a woman companion from the House of David.

"King" Benjamin Purnell, the cult's leader, he said, decreed the marriages and girls ordered to wed selected their husbands by drawing from a hat names of men members of the colony.

After the lottery, the girls and the lottery bridegrooms were married in a group.

Hill told of his own romance with the woman who accompanied him. They had been sweethearts for years, he said, but his name was drawn by a fifteen year old girl whom "King" Benjamin caused him to marry.

Just recently, he said, his name was drawn in another marriage lottery, his wife having divorced him after departing from the colony.

The second girl was Marietta Smith, Hill said, but he protested so strongly that she drew again. Her marriage to her second choice was halted by Attorney-General Daugherty this week.

Hill said he had heard stories of alleged immoral practices indulged in by the cult leader, and gradually lost his faith in the teachings. His mother's death, he said, shattered what little belief remained.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

USE MULSIFIED

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified cocoanut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, easy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

MATERNITY BILL ATTACKED BY BAY STATE

A brief of 150 pages, denouncing the Sheppard-Towner Act as an unwarranted violation of the rights of the people of Massachusetts was sent to the United States Supreme Court today by Assistant Attorney General Alexander Lincoln.

Now that former Attorney General J. Weston Allen has been appointed a federal judge, it is expected that the case will be argued by Lincoln and Attorney General Benton.

Lincoln's brief of 150 pages was the reply to the federal government's assertion that the state of Massachusetts has not legal right to contest the Sheppard-Towner act.

Lincoln's brief declared that by passing the Sheppard-Towner act Congress has attempted to take control over maternity and infancy and, therefore has violated the police power of the state to legislate for the welfare of individuals.

Lincoln declares the act is unconstitutional because it compels every State to raise funds for expenditure even if the State refuses to accept any of the benefits. He says that industrial states like Massachusetts are paying a large proportion of the cost of running the government.

He said that the States which accept the act never have been delegated powers for the use of expenditures and of public funds for the approval of the national government, and that the act is a violation of constitutional law against the forcing the States to deprive themselves of their sovereign rights in dependence of the government.

Business Is Good

Yet we hear that some retail clothing stores are complaining. But that's not due so much to general business conditions as to the fact that the public has become more discriminating. Men look at both sides of a dollar these days, and refuse to give it up except for value received.

So those stores that sell good goods, and give good values and render good service---which is what these great Kennedy Stores have a well-deserved reputation for doing---find their business booming.

Get the habit of looking at both sides of your dollar. Take it around to different stores and see what you're offered for it. You'll be surprised at how its value fluctuates in terms of clothing style and quality.

And if you find---as we expect you will and intend you shall---that your clothing money is worth more here than anywhere else, you'll also find us just as appreciative of your patronage as though you were the only customer that day.

ARREST BARES BIG STILL IN CAMBRIDGE

Hub Boy Flogged in Florida Prison Camp

WAS PEON ON LAND OF SENATOR

Paul Revere White Victim of the Brutality of Whipping Boss

Paul Revere White, a Massachusetts youth, is the latest victim of convict camp brutality in Florida, it was disclosed today.

White's home is in Boston. He is a brother of Harrison White, an employe of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau, residing at No. 1835 Q street, N. W., Washington.

Beaten and flogged in the camp operated by State Senator Knabb of Florida, young White, described as an emaciated stripling, barely escaped the fate of Martin Tabert, the North Dakota boy who died from the blows of a whip in another convict camp.

The cruelty alleged to have been practiced upon the boy with the knowledge of one of its own members, has aroused the Legislature of Florida to special action.

Investigation of the treatment of White will be taken up when the joint committee of the Florida Legislature reconvenes on May 1 next. Young White has been summoned as a witness. State Senator Knabb will be called upon to explain his countenancing of the alleged barbarous conditions in his Baker County camp.

The eagerness of a county official to gain $20 a head is blamed for the fate imposed upon Paul Revere White, according to dispatches from Tallahassee, the capital of the State, where the investigation of the Tabert case has been conducted, and came to a close on Thursday.

Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon County, who sent young Tabert of North Dakota to his doom for stealing a ride on a railroad train, was removed from office by the State Senate.

The sentencing of Edward Bogan, former prohibition agent, convicted of second degree murder for the shooting of Joseph Sequeria, was postponed today until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock because of the death of Judge Morton's father.

When the accused comes before United States Court for sentence his attorneys will file motion for a new trial.

POLICE RAID BIG STILL IN CAMBRIDGE

One Man Arrested, and 25 Gallons of Moonshine Seized in Clay Street Barn

After working all night in the darkness operating a 250-gallon still, Joseph Rosen of No. 107 Suffolk street, Malden, was arrested in an exceptionally well equipped distillery in a barn at No. 60 Clay street, Cambridge.

Sergeant Charles Presho and a squad of officers have been watching the place day and night for more than forty-eight hours. Some time before midnight Rosen was an uggled into the barn, and the police could occasionally hear him moving around while the still bubbled. They waited until daylight in order to make a more thorough search of the place.

In addition to the 250-gallon still, which the police think must have cost $1,500 to set up, a fourteen-light burner, 1,000 gallons of mash, more than 1,000 pounds of sugar, 16 barrels and 25 gallons of moonshine were found.

Sergeant Presho, who came into prominence as the police official who made a drive against bootleggers operating in Harvard yard and Harvard dormitories, says that this plant was one of the largest manufactories of moonshine in Cambridge.

Rosen, the police say, was engaged in running the still when the raiders broke in.

RAIDED 'MOONSHINE' PLANT

$1,500 STILL SEIZED IN CAMBRIDGE BARN

When police raided the place they arrested Joseph Rosen of Suffolk street, Malden, who, they charge, was caught operating the still. They seized 1,000 gallons of mash and a large amount of moonshine. Large quantities of sugar and other bootleg-making ingredients also were found. The still is one of the biggest seized in this vicinity since the dry era began. The insets are, left to right, Rosen, the arrested man, and Police Sergeant Charles Presho, who led the raid.

R. R. ROBINSON OF MALDEN DEAD

Roswell R. Robinson, retired millionaire soap manufacturer of Malden, died at his home, No. 84 Linden avenue, Malden, today, aged eighty-nine years.

Mr. Robinson was born in Taunton. He and his brother, the late Frederick A. Robinson, developed a soap industry in the Bell Rock district of Malden. Sixteen years ago they sold out.

Mr. Robinson was a trustee of Boston University, endowed Robinson Methodist Church and was president of the Malden Savings Bank, and treasurer of the Centre Method.st Church. He was identified with many other interests including the Y. M. C. A.

Two daughters, Mrs George L. Richards, wife of Representative Richards, and Mrs. John Wesley Lindell, survive him.

WHERE IS GIRL'S $101 PURSE?

Conductor 1225 of the Boston Elevated thinks "the company may not like it," but, just the same he is the story.

Conductor 1225 is Henry J Schuster, of No. 216 Westville street Dorchester. He "runs" on the Geneva avenue-Tunnel line. A few days ago he picked up a pocketbook containing $101. At the end of the trip he turned it in to the lost and found department.

A girl, clearly of the working class, and almost in tears, reported the loss of the money. It was returned to her.

Today when a Boston American reporter saw the conductor little or no information was forthcoming.

"Why don't you want to talk about it?" he was asked.

"Oh, well, maybe the company wouldn't like it," was the reply.

PROF. CHAFFEE'S FRIENDS MUM ON DIVORCE

Harvard was interested today in a report from Paris that Mrs Maria Josephine Kreutz Chaffee wife of Professor Leon Chaffee, A. M., Ph. D., assistant professor in physics, has filed suit there for a divorce on the ground that her husband refuses to resume marital relations.

E. L. Chaffee

"Professor Chaffee is abroad. He is expected back next week. Let him talk for himself." That was the most any of his friends at the university would say today.

From neighbors of Mrs. Chaffee in the apartment house at No. 43 Linnaean street, where she lived up to a month ago, it was learned that she moved in last September. According to these neighbors Mrs Chaffee and her two children Elsie and Robert, lived alone at the apartment. Professor Chaffee visited every Sunday with the car and took the children out for a ride. Then he would depart for another week.

On March 25 last, Mrs. Chafee moved from the apartment and told her friends she was going to Paris. Not a hint was dropped at the time as to her purpose. Just a week after Mrs Chaffee's departure Professor Chaffee too, sailed for Paris. The children were sent to a farm in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Chaffee is expected back May 10, but she will not return to the apartment. That has been sublet until next September.

Professor Chaffee graduated from M. I. T. in 1907. Since 1914 he has been a consulting engineer, and since 1917 he has been assistant professor of physics at Harvard. The Chaffees were married at Cambridge in 1913. In addition to being an assistant professor, Mr. Chaffee is a research fellow in hi-physics and a member of the Harvard cancer commission.

HOUSES SAVED IN NAHANT BLAZE

Fire that threatened a score or more houses in Nahant today destroyed fish nets valued at $3,000 and caused damage estimated at $500 to Nahant-Lynn railway trestle.

Town Forester Herbert Cole, accompanied by two pieces of fire apparatus, started burning off the dead grass on American Legion Park, near the Nahant coast guard station. He did not know that Captain William Smith had stretched out his nets to dry.

The flames raced across the field with such speed that the firemen were unable to save the nets and trestle and had hard work to save the dwellings. Coast guardsmen helped, working in the path of the fire. It was more than two hours before the fire was out.

ASKS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Haverhill, April 27.—Mrs. Maud Grimshaw Nichols, who came here from New York three years ago to visit her friend, Mrs. Harold Gage, and met and married John B. Nichols, son of a wealthy family of the Highland set, filed suit for divorce at Salem today, alleging cruelty.

Mrs. Nichols is living at No 30 Greendell street.

Mr. Nichols is the son of the late George Nichols, 2d, who was head of the Merrimack Ice Company. He inherited wealth from his father; also from his aunt, the late Alice Gardner Nichols.

QUEER-LOOKING FIRE PROBED IN SOMERVILLE

A suspicious fire at No. 691 Somerville avenue, Somerville, which had all the possibilities of resulting in tragedy like the recent Essex Castdisaster in Lynn, is being investigated by the State Fire Prevention Bureau.

Timely warning of the blaze in the grocery store conducted by Landini & Salvo at 11 o'clock two nights ago is believed by firemen and police to have prevented heavy loss of life among twenty-eight sleeping persons in eight families residing overhead.

The blaze was discovered by a woman who lives nearby. Rushing to the fire station occupied by Hose Company No. 5, about 100 yards away, she attempted to sound an alarm from the box in front of the station.

The woman's presence at the box aroused one of the sleeping firemen, who went outside to inquire. Informed of the fire he immediately aroused the rest of Company 5, who, under direction of Lieutenant Robert Jesson, went to the grocery store.

There, as they report to the police, they found two distinct fires widely separated, gaining rapid headway under the store counters. They extinguished the flames before they had done more than $50 damage.

The fact that they discovered two fires and also the fact that a window on one side of the store was open aroused the suspicion of the firemen who reported to the police.

As a result of it all, Inspector Everett W. Shumway of the State Fire Prevention Bureau today started official investigation.

According to the facts assembled by the Somerville police no body was seen at the grocery store before 6 o'clock, or five hours before the blaze was discovered. At 6 o'clock, the police records show, one of the partners was in the store on business.

HOUSE OF COMMONS REJECTS LABOR BILL

London, April 27 (By International News Service).—The House of Commons by a vote of 166 to 142 today rejected the bill put forwarded by the Labor party to prevent unemployment. The government opposed the measure on the ground it would mean industrial conscription.

SUSPECT DENIES KILLING

Roxbury Man, Held in Death of Policeman in Saxonville, Appears in Court

Framingham, April 27.—Salvatore Letteri, a Roxbury man, arrested in connection with the murder on February 3 of Patrolman William H. Welch in Saxonville, pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder today when arraigned in the local district court. At the request of Chief of Police Holbrook, his case was continued one week. He was held without bail and remanded to the East Cambridge jail.

Another charge was also brought against Letteri when he appeared in court. He was charged with breaking and entering the home of J. J. McCaffrey in Saxonville on December 23, 1922, and the larceny of two watches and a ring valued at $201. He pleaded not guilty to that charge. Police say they found some of the stolen articles in a pawnshop in Boston where they had been pawned by Letteri.

He was arrested in Cambridge when State Detective Fred M. Kirin recognized him from a mole on his ear and scars on his face.

Kirin, who was driving in the Cambridge parkway when he saw his man, got in touch with State Officers John P. Stokes and Joseph L. Ferraria, who have been working with him on the case for three months. Approaching Letteri from three sides, they gave him little chance to escape.

SEVERE GRILLING.

For seven hours the prisoner, taken to the State House, was subjected to merciless grilling. The authorities, at the conclusion of the questioning, were convinced they had arrested the right man.

Letteri was unarmed at the time of his arrest. He at first described himself as being James Rose, of No. 753 Tremont street, South End. He later admitted his true identity, but refused to discuss the charge that he killed Patrolman Welch.

William Welch, a patrolman on the Saxonville police force, was found lying on a doorstep in Saxonville, on the morning of February 3, this year, shot to death. There were several bullet wounds, any one of which would have been sufficient to kill him.

LETTERI SUSPECTED.

Little was found in the vicinity of the murdered policeman to aid the authorities in their search for the murderer. By a system of minute checking up, however, suspicion was fixed on Letteri, who at the time of the crime, was living with a sister-in-law not far from the scene of the slaying.

Letteri, according to records at police headquarters, was arrested in 1917 for robbing a Chinaman in the South End, and in 1921 on a larceny charge. He is a World War veteran, and took part in several important offensives with Company A of the 116th Field Artillery.

TWO MRS. GRAYS PICTURES CONFUSED

Similarity of names, which has often caused annoyance to two Back Bay matrons, was responsible for a picture of Mrs. F. J. Gray of No. 421 Marlboro street being printed by the Boston American last Tuesday, in connection with a statement on prison reform by Mrs. Francis Gray of No. 126 Commonwealth avenue, secretary of the Massachusetts Prison Association. In justice to both Mrs. Grays it should be explained that the use of the picture of Mrs. Gray of Marlboro street was one of those unintentional errors that will arise in spite of human effort to use due care.

BEGIN THIS STORY NOW

Two days after Kerry Rowan, a noted motion picture director, had visited the offices of the District Attorney in Los Angeles Rowan is found shot to death in his home, with a bowl of poppies scattered on the floor beside him. Rowan has given much information whereby the drug evil in Hollywood might be attacked and had promised to risk death by testifying against those caught in raids, for the sake of a clean Hollywood and because of his sincere affection for a young film star. Then, swing back to Ireland years earlier, where we meet Kenneth Royce, just out of college who goes to China as secretary to Sir Charles Aylesmere. Here he visits opium dens. While in China Kenneth meets Lily Waite, a "Dresden china doll," but discovers Lily's father is a morphine addict and card sharp. He comes to New York, is employed in a "Far East" shop and eventually meets Carra Leyton, to whom he presents a Japanese dagger.

Carra and Kenneth

THE third time they met, which was at a house party, they found conditions more favorable for getting acquainted, and the next time they met it was at the Leyton home, whither Kenneth had been invited by Carra herself, date and hour being specifically stated.

To his pleasant surprise, he found her alone.

"No, there's no one else coming," she informed him, quickly interpreting the glance with which he searched the adjoining rooms. "You're not disappointed, I hope?"

"I'm immensely flattered," he hastened to assure her, "but I confess I thought you rather liked a crowd around you."

Keep Things Humming

"Why?" she questioned, offering him a cigarette and taking one herself. "Do you think I like to show off?"

"No, not that, of course. But you do keep things humming. Life of the party was no name for it, last week-end."

"Oh, I can be as rowdy as the next one when it's expected of me, but I've had three seasons of that sort of thing. At times I think I'll not be able to stand it another second. Last season nearly finished me. The doctor just staved off a breakdown by a margin of a few days, he told me this Spring. I'm not up to the mark even now. That's why I like to take an evening to myself like this once in a while, when I don't have to take a cocktail unless I want to, nor play the merry idiot for my friends to laugh at."

"My word, is it as bad as all that?"

"It's much worse. You don't know the crowd you're going with as well as I do, Mr. Royce. And before you get to be just like the rest of them I thought I'd have you to myself a while. You seen—well, steadier, somewhat. I hear you have lived in the Orient. You never would have mentioned it, yourself, I suppose. I'm crazy about the Orient and I want to hear you talk about the things you've seen. Those are your orders for this evening, sir. Proceed."

Enthralled With Carra

So Kenneth talked while Carra listened, and that was the beginning of the most distracting companionship he had ever experienced. By the time it had extended throughout the Summer and well into the Winter season he was so enthralled and at the same time so exasperated that he scarce knew his own mind from one day to the next.

With the Carra he met by herself in her father's house he was tumultuously in love. With the feverish, reckless, flirtatious Carra he encountered elsewhere he felt he never could have anything in common.

"I know you think I'm crazy," she said one time, when she caught him looking at her with unfeigned anxiety, "but I'm playing the game as I see it. Dad and mother have cast me for a popular member of the younger set, and I'm interpreting the role the best I know how. It seems to be what they expect, and I don't want to disappoint them. Please don't bother about me. Just feel a little sorry for me, that's all."

It was at this time or thereabouts that Carra delighted Kenneth by coming into the shop one afternoon to buy a wedding present for a girl friend. She selected a graceful Satsuma vase, and while an attendant was preparing it to be

ELEVATORS GO 'DEAD' IN THREE BUILDINGS

Elevator service failed in the Old South, Winthrop and Journal buildings, Washington streets, about an hour in the "going up" rush period today. The elevators went "dead" when a break came in an Edison electric feed cable supplying current for the cars. Some cars were caught between floors. These were brought to the nearest floor level by auxiliary starting devices provided for such emergencies. Cablemen located the break from a manhole in front of the Old South building and repaired the damage. Hundreds of persons meanwhile had stiff after breakfast exercise hiking up stairs.

FRANCE RUSHES MORE TROOPS TO TURKEY

Lausanne April 27.—France, already at loggerheads with Turkey over the concessions granted by the Angora government to the Chester group of Americans has begun to send reinforcements to the Near East it was learned here today.

The French garrisons at Constantinople and in Syria are being strengthened. France is about to send a whole division of troops to Syria. General Weygand of the French detachment in the Near East has conferred with Premier Poincare in Paris. It is believed that the French are determined to maintain the full rights in Syria despite Turkish protests. These rights were acquired under an allied mandate

STORE EMPLOYES IN MINSTREL SHOW

The minstrel show and dance run by the Houghton & Dutton Company Mutual Relief Association at Convention Hall before a large number of employes and their friends, was a well rendered affair.

John Ring, George Shea and Etta Goldberg played the leading parts in "Broadway Twitters." They were ably assisted by Walter Lynch, Leo Haley, John Ures, Joseph Nickerson, Fanna White and a well trained chorus.

The singing and dancing numbers were received with loud applause. Mae Galvin, William Kelcourse, Vina Galvin and Louise Hunt gave pleasing numbers. The entertainment was superintended by Leo P Haley.

WEDDING WILL FEATURE HOME SHOW TONIGHT

When the wedding tonight of C P Benton 11th of Wollaston and Miss Pauline Tirr Sweetser of Winchester will be the big attraction at Mechanics Building, there are several features on the day's program of the Home Beautiful exposition of special interest to women.

A concert in Paul Revere Hall is the first thing to draw people to that part of the building devoted to home makers' assemblies. At 3.15 Miss Edna Cutler of Dracut will hold the attention of women and girls who like fine story of "A Woman on a Farm." She will be followed by Mrs Henrietta Pope of Boston, a well known landscape architect who will talk on "New Aspects of Horticulture."

Mrs Caroline Moorhead, a Southern woman will talk on the value of citrus fruits as foods, and Miss Lucy D Taylor will speak briefly on "Influence of Color and Texture in Backgrounds."

The chief feature of the meetings in Paul Revere Hall was a kindergarten demonstration by children from the Roxbury Neighborhood House, under the direction of Miss Rachel Clark.

Proper reading for children was told by Miss Alice M. Jordan of the Boston Public Library; and a round table for brides closed the meetings

Taxi and Team Crash

A taxicab and a two-horse caravan tipped over in a collision on Chelsea Bridge. All concerned were uninjured. W. H. McDonald of Batavia street operated the cab. Philip St Croix of Stanford street, Somerville, drove the caravan.

BOSTON

April 26th, 1923.

Boston American,
80 Summer Street,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sirs,-

I congratulate your paper on the splendid fight made for the release of James Barr. Having served twenty-three years in prison he fulfilled all the obligations of justice and was an issue that justified your great fight. It seems to me the family ought to be reconciled now and join with friends of Barr and help him live up to the terms of his parole. The course of your newspaper in making this fight in the interest of charity and justice is worthy of the consideration and approval of the public.

Very truly yours,
Thos. L. Walsh

PRAISE AID OF AMERICAN IN FREEING BARR

James Barr shall not want for a home or for employment.

Boots from all parts of the State are coming forward with offers of work and a home for this old man who will walk forth from the state Prison next Tuesday a free man after spending twenty-three years of his life behind its cold walls.

All that Governor Cox wants is assurance that Barr will not find himself without friends and without a home. Sixty thousand Scots who have stood behind Barr in his fight for freedom will not see the old man homeless. That is not the way with the Scotchmen.

William Merritt, Stewart Millar, Captain Alfred Portis and countless others who have fought for Barr's stand ready to see that he is cared for now. Colonel Walter Scott of New York is another prominent Scot who will stand by Barr that he will be cared for is a certainty say the Scots. That is all that the Governor asks.

The Boston American, which has fought shoulder to shoulder with Barr's friends for his release, has received letters of praise from persons of prominence for its part in his fight. Personal messages and letters have poured in.

One of the outstanding letters was from Major Thomas Walsh, brother of United States Senator Walsh. Major Walsh was counsel for Barr at the time he was sentenced to prison.

When Barr is released he will be given a week's vacation to sort of acclimate himself. Then he will settle down to work. Then he will start in to pick up the loose ends that were dropped twenty three years ago when the old man was shut off from the world in the prime of life. Barr realizes that at his age he has a difficult task ahead, but he declares he knows he will win, that he will not disappoint his friends who have stood by him so loyally

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Bisurated Magnesia Ends Acidity—Gives Instant Relief to a Bad Stomach.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, bad gastric sourness, burning gas, eating pains, etc. are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated by this excess acid and food sours, causing the unhappy symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. They lessen the all essential acids and interfere with proper digestion. A few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form, never liquid or milk) in a glass of water right after eating neutralizes the stomach poisoning the formation of excess acid and gives the sourness gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablets, never liquid or milk) is harmless and the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion

"BOSTON'S YEAR-ROUND FAVORITE"

Baby Likes His Orange Juice

IT'S one of the first foods the modern baby knows.

Prescribed for him when he's but a few weeks old in millions of cases.

It's salts and acids are good for him. It is mildly laxative.

And it brings him the essential Vitamine "C." Therefore orange juice with milk which has the growth-promoting vitamines in abundance, makes a complete and perfect food for the baby or young child.

So this great boon to babies is fortunate in having an enticing flavor that makes little people like it. And, fortunate for little folk, they can have oranges fresh the year 'round.

PADGETT DECLARES HIS BODY BLOWS WILL BEAT SHEVLIN

COWBOY THINKS SHADE GOT CHILLED FEET

By JACK CONWAY.

"Why I shall be the next world's welterweight champion!"

This will be Cowboy Padgett's topic when he opposes Eddie Shevlin, New England welterweight champion, in the feature ten-round bout at the Arena A. C.'s opening at the Boston Arena next Monday night.

Aggressiveness and body punches will be the chief weapons of attack, according to Padgett.

Any youth who can battle ten rounds to a draw with Dave Shade, and also give Jack Britton a torrid battle must be given serious consideration.

"I really do not believe that Shade was obliged to undergo an operation," said Padgett today. "After our bout at Galveston, Texas, I did not think that the Californian would give me a return engagement. I was not much surprised when the Arena Club announced that I was going to get another shot at Shade.

"It became the announcement that Shade was on the hospital list as a result of an operation for which he assigned the same to me as the story from Chicago to the effect that a sprained ankle prevented Johnny Wilson from fighting with Italian Joe Gans.

"Why, I heard that I would meet Shade again with Eddie Shevlin. I know that Shevlin is the world's greatest welterweight and that he never has withdrawn from a bout.

"I shall fight Shevlin as I would have battled Shade, which is to the body. I found that Shade cannot take heavy wallops around the mid-section. I don't believe that Shevlin will be at all enthusiastic about the way I shall hammer him around the body.

"Of course, I shall try for a knockout. I would like to be able to stop the man who has won decisions over Shade, Ward and Doyle."

Padgett and Shevlin have been mighty busy training for Monday night and it looks as if in the best of condition and a hard battle is expected. It will be the first of a series of bouts shown which will be staged at the Arena this Spring and during the Summer.

The semi-final eight rounder will feature Hermose Kelly of South Boston and Lefty Goode, who should be a snappy battle. There will also be a couple of more eights.

Tiplitz and Julian to Show at Armory A. A.

Joe Tiplitz of Philadelphia and Tony Julian, Brockton lightweight, are billed to meet in the ten-round feature at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Gait House next Wednesday night.

Tiplitz takes the place of the Falsco-Wagner affair, which has been set back until May 8 on account of an injury suffered by Falsco.

Julian was set down by the Boxing Commission recently when he bumped out of a bout with Tiplitz. The bar was lifted when Tony agreed to go through with his engagement with the heavy hitting Philadelphian.

There will also be three eight rounders, Billy Nelson of Lowell will cop to Tony Amorin of Brockton, while Spike Hennessy of Waltham will take on Johnny South of Brockton. The third eight will be announced today.

Commercial Club Should Help Develop Talent

The Commercial Club, which recently announced that it would bring out its old amateur, Howdoin square, should begin to develop local talent. Colonel Jack Mullen, the sentimental favorite of the old star performers, has announced he does not intend to box again, but that he will not say no to develop some fighting talent.

You won't see any of the pro champions at the Commercial Club shows. You will, however, get plenty of action, which is what the fans want.

WILLARD WEIGHS IN AT 242 POUNDS FOR CROWD

By Universal Service

Yonkers, N. Y., April 27.—Jess Willard, who will fight Floyd Johnson May 12 at the New York Milk Fund show, stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at 242.

Walter Hooks of the New York Boxing Commission was in the crowd that watched Willard work. The big fellow says he is now at the weight at which he will enter the ring, and declared he never felt better in four years.

FORE RIVER IN TWO TOUGH BATTLES

SOCCER TOMORROW

BOSTON AND DISTRICT LEAGUE.
Maple Leafs vs. St. Georges, at Fore River Field, Quincy.

Clan Sutherland vs. Brockton, at Buick Field, Allston.

Lynn Gas vs. Electric Thistles, at Meadow Park, Lynn.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE
General Electric vs. Arlington Mills, at Cooper street, Lynn.

American Woolen vs. Mass. Cotton, at Lawrence.

Methuen vs. Shawsheen A. A., at Methuen.

OTHER GAMES
Charlestown vs. Chinese, at bulli van square.

BY ART CURLY

With most of the local soccer teams eliminated from the various big cup competitions, the Boston and District League and the Industrial League clubs will attempt to catch up with the schedules which they are many games behind.

The Fore River aggregation has a very strenuous week end mapped out, being scheduled to battle the two of the strongest teams in New England on consecutive dates. They were down on the list to meet Abbot Worsted tomorrow in an Industrial League match and on Sunday they have a Maple Leaf engagement with J. & P. Coats at Providence, where the New England semi-final of the American Cup series will be staged.

But the Quincy management finally decided that it was too big an assignment and were granted a postponement of the Abbot game by the Industrial League officials in order that the rendezvous Massachusetts entrant would be able to put a strong, fresh eleven on the field against the Clan Pipers.

The Clan Sutherland Brockton Boston and District League title at Buick Field at 3 o'clock on the Sunday they have a New England "Pop. Lee" cup outfit of Caledonian players, can be depended upon to give any old team a tough battle. Early in the season the Brockton bunch chalked up a 7-1 victory over Roxbury in the State Cup series, but the game was protested, and the local aggregation won the replay by a close margin. There figure it would seem that Billy Green's "Kiltied" are in for a torrid session.

Lynn fans must make their choice between two games. The General Electric United are slated to meet the Arlington Mills team on the Cooper street Grounds, while Meadow Park will be the scene of a city championship fracas between the Lynn Gas and the Electric Thistles.

The Maple Leafs will take advantage of the Fore River layoff by tackling St. George A. A. on the Fore River grounds in a Boston and District League game.

Jack Corrigan, the star centre for a part of the Abbot Worsted team, who was banished from the American Woolen game last Saturday by Referee Pat Darcy for being "too strenuous" with Fullback Burke, has been placed back on the active list with a censure from the State Association.

Fore River won its protest against the Roxbury team on the grounds that they were robbed of a goal by Drummond in the first half because spectators encroached on the field of play and interfered with the ball. The game will be replayed at Marcella street May 5.

BAY VIEW CLUB.

The Bay View Club of South Boston desire diamond attractions with any of the leading semi-pro teams in New England. Communicate with George Clark, No. 10 Brewster street, South Boston.

WILDE BATTLES FILIPINO ON JUNE 16

London, April 21—Jimmy Wilde will sail from England May 12 for the United States and will go through with his battle on June 16 with Pancho Villa, the Filipino flyweight.

This information was embraced in an article which Wilde wrote for one of the newspapers here and in which he took violent exception to sentiments made by Jack Sharkey, the American featherweight.

Sharkey who was here on a visit several months ago reported back to the United States that Wilde weighed 150 pounds and never could get into condition to defend his flyweight title.

When this statement was conveyed to Wilde he became incensed and promptly termed Sharkey a "prevaricator."

"I have made all my plans for sailing for New York on May 12," wrote Wilde. "I am in such condition right now that with a few weeks of training I could reach not only 112 pounds, but could get down to 108 or 110 pounds and be at my fighting best."

MITCHELL MILITARY ARRANGES SCHEDULE

Billerica, April 27. — Manager John Webster, Jr., of Winthrop has arranged a schedule of seven games for the Mitchell Military Boys baseball nine. Two games will probably be played with the Huwa Huh School team of this town for the diamond championship of Billerica.

The schedule follows:

May 3—Allen Military School second.
May 5—Middlesex School third.
May 12—Middlesex School third at North Concord.
May 17—Waltham Junior High School.
May 23—Lowell High School freshmen.
May 30—Open.
May 31—Allen Military School second at West Newton.

PANGRAZE DEFEATS DILLON AT QUINCY

Joe Pangraze of West Quincy received the decision over Ed Dillon of Woburn in the main go of six rounds at the Granite A. A. Smoker in Music Hall Quincy last night.

In the semi-final Hugh Ramsey of Weymouth beat George Rice of Malden in eight rounds. In the preliminary Carl Davis of Quincy bridge carried too hard a punch for Kid Lubin of Cuba, and won in the first round by knockout.

OLD "HOME OF ACTION" COMES TO LIFE AGAIN

Everything is set for the opening of the "Home of Action" tonight at the Commercial Club, Boylston square, where more prominent boxers have been brought out than at any other club in New England.

Boxers like Frankie Britt, Pal Reed, Nate Siegel, Bobby Josephs, Charlie Parker, Joey Connolly, Paul Jones, Benny Valger, K. O. Mackey, Bobby Dyson, Jimmy Donovan, Johnny Downes, Tommy Nee, Peddy Owens and hundreds of others who have made their flatic marks were developed.

The object of the Commercial Club is to build up a new set of boxers of the same calibre as these boys, as the "Home of Action" was always noted for its wonderful boys.

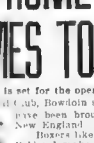
On the card tonight six new faces will be seen. Headed by Terry McManus who meets Tommy Hart of the West End, Mickey Landers, who clashes with Buff Ivers, the latter will see two of the greatest amateur champions ever developed here.

Mickey Landers

McManus was the winner of the national 135 pound championship, while Landers won the New England championship. When the latter steps in the ring for his debut tonight, it is expected that all of his friends will be clustered around the ringside to cheer them to victory.

A bout which will settle the middleweight championship will introduce Beef Edwards and Jack Keating. They are heavyweights, and when they climb into the ring, the fur is sure to fly. The market workers will turn out in force to see them in action.

Jimmy Manning of South Boston and Dodie O'Neil of Nashua, N. H. are carded for a repetition of their recent sensation bout. Tommy Marks of the North End and Mike O'Dowd of Roxbury are also carded.



Jimmy Manning.

DETROIT BOXER IS AFTER ACTION

The Detroit bantamweight sensation, Joey Schwartz who has been showing marked success since his arrival in the East and who, by the way, was matched with Champion Joe Lynch here, only to have Lynch call off the contests for some unknown reason is particularly anxious to meet Johnny Curtin, Young Montreal Mickey Smith during his campaign for a bout for the title.

Schwartz has come coming East and has defeated Pinkie Doolan, Benny Murray, Tommy McGinty, Frankie Purple White Lee as well as before coming East defeating Pal Moon and recently has shown over Johnny Brown, Sid McLean, Earl McArthur, Johnny Lee and several other well known West coast boys and this should stamp him as of championship timber.

Why is it that Carl Tremaine has run on of three matches with this boy recently? Certainly it must be afraid of Joey's punching power.

Schwartz has signed to box good six round bout for the Dundee Club on Monday night, but has also been matched to box Sid Spitzer Garden Saturday night and the Sam Langford of Boston man.

AMATEUR BALL GAMES WANTED

SHAMROCKS

The Shamrocks of Brighton will again play a fast semi-pro team on the diamond this season for the fourth consecutive season playing for the championship. Manager Curtin, who has managed the team for the last three years will arrange both home and away games, and will play at the old playground on Chestnut Hill avenue. The Shamrocks' schedule games at home and away and are on the lookout for open dates for Saturdays and Sundays and holidays. Write James V. McLaughlin, 30 Shannon street, or call Brighton 2432.

STONEHAM PIRATES.

Stoneham Pirates are in the field to meet any of the fast semi-pro team on their list for the season. Among such stars as Wilson, Lynch, pitchers Lindell and Sweeney, one base Wilson, centre field, E. Knight, second base Rice, catcher Doherty, short stop Sullivan, third base Wilson, Stoneham street, Stoneham.

VICTORY A. A.

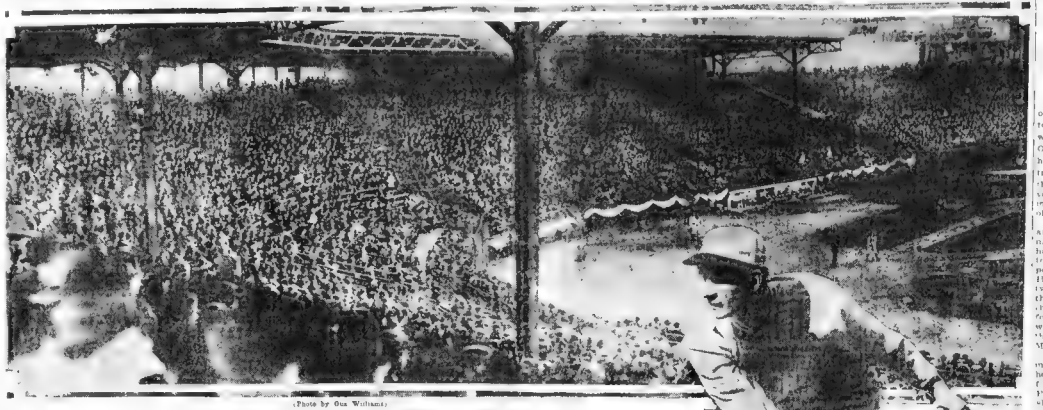
RED SOX OUT TO REPEAT VICTORY OVER THE YANKEES

Looks Like Old Times Out at the Fenway Baseball Orchard



(Photo by Gus Williams)

BALL FANS WELCOME CHANCE

By NICK FLATLEY.

Frank Chance and his Red Sox have knocked inside a lot of the unpopularity that simmered in American League baseball hereabouts for the past few years, and the gang is all ready for the Fenway flock. The same gang was prepared to jeer yesterday when the made-over Sox opened their home season, but a little jarring even before the game had started just after the Governor and the Mayor had fanned Manager Frank.

But in the course of one short ball game, all that feeling was knocked dead. It happens that way in baseball. The Red Sox stepped out and fought the champion Yankees from the drop of the ball to whatever they drop. The great crowd applauded slams and the ball right on the spot, chased Wade Hoyt, worried Carl Mays, then won the game from Bullet Joe Bush.

Shaping the game with a run in one afternoon should help any ball club. The victory was sweet to the throng, but a celebration hadn't been resented. As the Boston fans want is a fighting team and Manager Frank feels that the Pacific Coast gave plenty of evidence that he has put the Red Sox at the station into the best kind of fighting.

There would have been a fight at out today had things gone according to routine. The boys wanted to see the Sox and Babe Ruth and they were willing to stay away from there. They came to see and stayed to cheer, as somebody said once, when words like that didn't mean a nickel.

Will Have Quite a Few Friends on Hand

The Sox will have quite a few friends on hand the rest of the way anyway, and if they show the same spirit they brought in from trails all the way through, they will be welcomed heartily for a whole Summer or so.

The rush always takes place to see a champion unrolled and, be it as the case may be had his say. faction to show off the Fenway. We must admit that there are a few spots on the team that will need bolstering sooner or later. But until the occasion arrives we'll like the rest of them, willing to reserve judgment.

Almost all the Sox did something during their first Boston appearance to tickle the game. But the real heroes were Joe Harris and George Burns, who smacked the apple for clouts, and Howard Ehmke, who pitched great ball on the pinches after getting into more holes than an auger.

Howard Was Obliged to Go After Yank Flurry

Howard was obliged to retreat when a Yank flurry in the ninth threatened to spoil it after looking as he succeeded with dark figure to the shutout.

Lefty O'Doul followed, to pitch to Babe Ruth, who hooted up a soft boiled sacrifice fly, and Waite Hoyt, who fanned, and just for that he got the credit of winning the game. The Babe's hoist tied things up and gave our hitters a chance to shine when they stood in the last ditch.

The Yanks' ultimate surge was sudden and startling, but the Sox went them a few better in the matter of speed. It took six batters to give the hostiles the winning run. It took just two for the Sox to rop.

| McIntire, 3b. | Capwell, c |
| Vargus, p. | Smith, p. |

With Tommy Phillips covering second base, and one of the strongest infields in the country this afternoon's game with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y., will be an aggressive, although not a championship game.

The Troy team is known as the first time today as an opponent of any of the Boston college nines, but it has been playing baseball for a number of years and has a fairly good record. Last year it defeated Tufts, but lost to Worcester Tech. This year it has already defeated Worcester Tech, and has also defeated Union College, which has defeated Yale. Manager Tom Phillips is counting on the Troy game to show him whether the team is strong enough to defeat Holy Cross next Saturday.

Coach Lefty Wilson has selected the following batting order, which he will probably use this afternoon: Fahey, ss; Wilson, lf; Darling, cf; Comerford, rf; F. Phillips, c; Whelan, 1b; McIntire, 3b; Vargus, p; T. Phillips, 2b; Horton, cf; Farrell, 1b; Pschertz, 1b; Crimp, ss; Wardall, 3b; Mann, rf; Weidner lf; Capwell, c; Smith, p.

TO CROWN NEW ALL-AROUND CHAMPION AT PENN RELAYS

STAR BOSTON ATHLETES IN BIG MEET

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

[illegible] from all sections of the country will rival sensa[illegible] performances from United States, England and [illegible] features in the opening day events of the annual Penn-sylvania Relay Carnival at [illegible], Philadelphia, this afternoon.

Athletes to the number of nearly 2,000 have entered at the City of Brotherly Love for this great meet. The first outdoor track and field program of the season and prospect of new records both in the Relay numbers and the special events are [illegible] parallelled.

The outstanding feature of today's program at Franklin Field is the Intercollegiate pentathlon championship, consisting of five events ranging from sprinting to jumping and weight throwing.

Bob LeGendre was top-notcher little last year in all-around work and is expected to prove his prowess over the closer competition of the Olympic games and the Penn Athletic Club's all-star team. The strength of the new Amateur Athletic Union team, which will represent this country in the Paris Olympic games next August, will be centered in the pentathlon candidates.

[illegible] Tootell Is After New Record

[illegible] Tootell, Boston A. A. star, will endeavor to break the record of 15 feet 6 inches for the pole vault, which he himself established last year. Tootell has been [illegible] and is expected to [illegible] the mark. But Tootell will have to [illegible] Lee Barnes, Yale star, who has been [illegible] 14 feet 6 inches. ## Bobbie and His Pa

I WAS reeding about a grate lady tennis player this morning sed Ma. Some of the ladies in our club was tunkking of taking up tennis, sed Ma.

Be carful how you drop it after you take it up, sed Pa.

We may not drop it at all, sed Ma. At what are you laffing at? sed Ma to Pa.

I was thinking of a lot of you old gurls hopp ing around a tennis court, Pa sed. You old married gurls don't need a tenuis court, sed I a. What you need, sum of you, sed Pa, is a court of Domestick Relations. I bet that aint spelt rite.

Do you mean to innerply that we neglekt our hoame? sed Ma.

Oh, not exactly sed Pa only I think it aint only gen'ral for a lot of elderly dames to be hopping around & slamming a ball with a racket, Pa sed.

We mite be putting in our time to worser advantige, Ma sed.

Yes, sed Pa, & also to better advantige. You mite be improving pure minds, Pa sed. Why dnant you spend that same time talk ing with pure hu-bands & le arning sumthing sed Pa.

Jed you git that, Bobbie? sed Ma. Pure noabel father thinks I cud learn sumthing by heering him talk. Is he not quaint, a I Ma to me.

Pa is O. K., I sed. Anything Pa says goes with me, I sed.

That is the way with the Sacks, sed Ma always stacking up for each other & taking sides a gainst us gurls, sed Ma.

I fee like being out on the fence I sed every time I see Pa & Ma having a scrap. I sed.

Then we shud never have words, sed Ma to Pa. Let us begin this very day, sed Ma & I solve never to have a ary more.

That is fine sed Pa that suits me down to the ground. It is on sed Pa.

It is on, sed Ma.

We wud never have had any arguments anyway, sed Pa, if you were not so stubborn.

Whao is stubborn? sed Ma. How dare you call me stubborn? sed Ma & then Pa & Ma beeean to argew all over agreen. I guess wen Ma sed it is on, she ment the argument was on.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

GENEROSITY is a wonderful thing and this country would have thousands of more philanthropists today if it didn't cost them anything.

SOME people imagine they're big hearted when they give you something they're unable to use and can't sell.

ONE guy was so reticent about having his generous donations made public that whenever he gave a check to charity he signed it with an anonymous name.

HE wanted to do something for humanity so he shipped a lot of ice cream up to Alaska last Winter and sold it to the Eskimos at low cost prices.

ANI he's planning now to distribute coombs to every bald headed man in his neighborhood.

OF course he knows that bald headed men haven't got any hair but that doesn't matter, because the combs he's going to give away haven't any teeth.

A TRAMP walked three hundred miles to this guy's house one time just to get something to eat. This philanthropist wouldn't let him have any food but he gave him a box of corn plasters.

SOME people believe in giving until it hurts, but they take ether so that they won't feel the pain.

THEY'D lend you fifty cents any time providing you put up a dollar for security.

THEN when you went to get your dollar back they'd charge you fifty cents for storage on it.

A MAN will give five cents to a Salvation Army drive and then expect a quarter's worth of badges to show that he donated a nickel.

THEN as soon as he gets home he gives the badge to the baby and takes five pennies out of the kid's bank.

HE'S got a heart as big as a flake of dandruff on a microbe's head.

HE'S not exactly a miser, but he's so afraid that a dollar might get away from him that he puts a straitjacket on it.

HE hangs on to a nickel so tight that he rubs all the fur off of the buffalo's back.

NOT only that but he squeezes it so hard that cider comes out of the Indian's Adam's apple.

A MAN'S generosity all depends upon the early training he gets. Some mothers teach their kids not to be stingy with candy even if it's their own.

HALF of the men in the United States still have the first dollar they ever made and the chances are they have yours, too.

DO NOT LOSE INDIVIDUALITY BY COPYING OTHERS.

Are you continually trying to make yourself over into another person?

You meet one who pleases you, and you wish you were like that person.

You realize that you cannot change your nature, but you feel that with practice you might talk and act like the one you admire.

While you are trying to perfect yourself in this respect you meet one whose characteristics please you, and you change your gait and try to adopt the mannerisms of the first one.

The result is that you are a picture of many persons and you are no sure of yourself at any time in any way, for you have lost individuality and initiative.

You are just a rendezvous where all persons meet, while if you had developed some time to perfecting yourself in ways you should know to manage yourself along personal principles, you might have become known individuality as a background.

With personality and knowledge you could fill a position which others might wish to occupy. Be yourself but improve that self.

Close Work

Bill had succeeded in getting a job at a motor factory. He did not even know himself how he got it, for he knew nothing at all about automobiles.

On his application at the work he had passed off as a friend of his who was used to mechanics.

"Well, Joe," he said, "How's business?"

"Oh, big," was the reply. "How are you getting on with your new job?"

"Great," said Bill. "But it's terribly close work. Why, do you know, we have to work to a thousandth of an inch."

"Good Hill! How many thousandths are there in an inch?"

"Oh, millions, Joe, millions," said Bill safely.

Jim threw back his head and laughed so that his voice rang out with a delicious boyishness.

"You can look back on that now and wonder what it's all about," he said at last. "You were a 'jealous blonde' at the beginning. I had only to look at another woman—and it didn't have to be twice. Now you fight to keep a beauty like Mabel Storrs in my office."

"Mabel's a dear—and my friend," I said carelessly, a little pained at Jim's casual attitude toward the feeling that used to burn me up. "I'm still capable of resentment, Jim. So don't put yourself out to arouse it."

An Eye-Opener Romance in Which Is Depicted the Horror of What Drugs Do to Hollywood

Taken out to her carriage her eye was caught by a small dagger in a carved ivory sheath.

"What an exquisite piece of carving," she exclaimed. "Did you buy that?"

"No, that's Japanese work. I've never been in Japan," Royce replied.

"It would make a perfect paper cutter for my desk. How much is it?"

"I'd be only too happy to make you a present of it if you'll allow me," said Royce eagerly. "You have a birthday coming soon, I believe.

Carra demurred at first, but Royce carried his point, and she took the dagger away with her.

He attached no significance to the fact at the time, but later it came back to him that the design which the artist had carved on the sheath and handle of the wicked little knife was a tangle of flaunting, full-bloom poppies.

Poppies and a Needle

"Fine condition this business will soon be in if he's going to start giving things away to every red-headed social butterfly who comes into the place."

The speaker, Presaleigh Clinton, had witnessed Royce's gift to Miss Leyton and was commenting upon it to one of the other salesmen. Clinton was the one man in the institution with whom Royce was not on friendly terms. Prior to Royce's advent he had been head salesman, a position from which the newcomer's superior ability had ousted him, and though he had been reinstated when Kenneth was elevated to a partnership, he had never forgiven the new member of the firm his rapid rise to power.

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined the other clerk. "He made a sale to her and probably will make a heap more. I never question his methods any longer. Look where they've landed him."

Cost of Generosity

"Granted, granted," said Clinton impatiently, "but just the same, I think His Lordship's prosperity has gone to his head."

Royce, bidding his charming customer good afternoon at the door, turned back into the shop just in time to overhear Clinton's last remark, and to recognize the faint sneer in the nickname employed. His first impulse was to give the man a reprimand he would never forget, but on the second thought he concluded to ignore the remark and to act as if he had not heard it. Had the decision lain with him alone, he would not have retained Clinton in his employ, but Baron liked him and he been with the concern a long time. "After all, I can hardly blame the poor beggar," reflected Royce. "No doubt I'm where he hoped to be by this time. I can afford to be generous."

His Partner's Death

As events turned out, his forbearance only postponed the inevitable. It was less than a week later when, to every one's intense surprise and genuine sorrow, Wadleigh Baron's heart quietly ceased functioning during the night and he was found in the morning enjoying his last long sleep.

No one had foreseen or even suspected the possibility of such a thing, save, it appeared, Baron himself, and his physician. His affairs proved to be in perfect condition and he had appointed a trust company as executor of his will. Being without immediate family, he had left his share of the business to a few distant relatives who were to derive the income from it, though having no part in its management.

Royce's grief at losing his partner and benefactor was deep and lasting but the responsibility of carrying on the business provided a welcome relief by plunging him straightway into a welter of details which had to be explained to the administrator appointed by the trust company to look after the interests of the beneficiaries named in the will.

This dual form of management was unsatisfactory and at length, after months of negotiation, Royce induced the heirs to accept cash payments in lieu of their share of the business.

To effect this arrangement he was obliged to borrow heavily from the trust company, but the company gladly accepted his notes, with a mortgage on the stock of the Far East Shop as security, and the business proceeded as usual.

One of Royce's first acts after the death of his partner was to summon Presaleigh Clinton to his office.

"We have come to the parting of the ways, Clinton," he informed him, without preamble. "I doubt whether you would care to work under the new conditions but, even if you would, I have decided that it is impossible. You may have a month in which to look about and I shall be pleased at any time to recommend you as a first class salesman."

"Do you know what you are saying?" questioned Royce

"You're so very kind," said Clinton, with undisguised sarcasm.

"And this is the reward I get for my years of service with this firm?"

"As to that, I think it's precisely the reward you're entitled to," retorted Royce, crisply, "the only reward that jealously ever brings to any one. In your next situation I would suggest that you try cooperation instead of vindictive rivalry. And, another thing: If you see one of your fellow workers getting ahead faster than you are, don't call him 'His Lordship' and don't try to make others think his prosperity has gone to his head."

"Oh, you caught that, did you? Well, I don't mind saying that my opinion has not changed in the slightest, and if it's all the same to you I'll quit right now."

"So much the better. I'll speak to the cashier at once. Good afternoon."

Clinton strode angrily into the adjoining office and in the press of the long negotiations with the trust company, which occupied his mind during the ensuing months Royce forgot all about him.

Superficial Gayety

So firmly did the business tie him down at first that even Carra dropped out of his mind for days at a time. The evenings he managed to spend at her home were few and far between and what little he saw of her at various functions throughout the remainder of the Winter season added nothing to his peace of mind.

Carra was "interpreting her role" with a vengeance. Always popular, always in demand, always aquiver with superficial gayety, she raced at top speed through the ceaseless round of social duties in which she was enmeshed.

Her existence was best described in a remark made to Royce by Mrs. Barbara Hume, a young widow of means who was endeavoring, with no appreciable success, to interest Kenneth in her own personal self.

"Carra," said she, is traveling under forced draught. Unless she makes port pretty soon she'll burn out her boilers. Then the storm will overtake her and she'll be tossed up on the rocks."

This was precisely Royce's idea of the situation, but it was not until the second Summer of his devotion came around that he decided to appoint himself a life saving crew of one, and to undertake the task of rescuing the gay little pleasure craft from destruction.

Nothwithstanding the unavoidable distractions which had kept them apart during the Winter, their associations had taken on a slowly increasing intimacy and when Summer arrived, with its wholesome, out-of-door activities, they found themselves more strongly attracted to each other than ever.

The season had taken its toll of Carra. Her figure, once so striking in its perfection, showed certain flattening in its curves and her nerves refused to relax from the tension under which they had been placed for so long.

In the moments when she was not on parade Royce found her more than ever inclined to have fits of the blues and to wish herself no longer obliged to take part in the fruitless pursuits which her family and friends listed under the head of pleasure.

Ardent Youth's Dream

This mood struck a responsive note in Royce. He had enjoyed the novelty of his new surroundings, so long as Baron was alive, but with his friend gone he had begun to recognize the futility of almost everything which occupied him in his spare time.

Baron had enjoyed the outer refinements of life but of a deeper culture he knew nothing. His friends, naturally enough, were of like caliber, and already Royce had begun to tire of them.

He decided that now was the time to take Carra away from an environment which had become distasteful to her and to give her a chance at the normal, happy life to which he felt her true nature entitled her.

Accordingly, during the week of the annual regatta at the yacht club, he gave a dinner party, and it was his hope that before the evening was over he would find an opportunity to ask Carra to be his wife.

A Lively Party

He included Mrs. Hume in the party, and, at her request, he also invited Vance Carney, a young millionaire lumberman from the South, whose yacht was anchored in the bay for the period of the aquatic festival.

Carney had guests aboard, it developed, a married couple and two assorted pairs of young folks, so the invitation was extended to include them as well. Two girl chums of Carra's completed the party.

The dinner was served on the lawn of the club house, overlooking the fleet of pleasure craft below. Carney and his friends evinced a true Southern capacity for liquor stimulants and, in the capacity as host, Royce did everything in his power to see that their thirst did not go unappeased.

Carra had her chums were more moderate, but Barbara Hume clinked glasses with the visitors on every round and was soon in a condition of such loquacity that words would not come fast enough to take care of all the things she thought of to talk about.

Young Movie Director, in Love With Film Star, Shot to Death After Giving Evidence

Every one danced in the ballroom between courses and every one became exceedingly warm. Therefore when, later in the evening, Carney suggested that the whole party repair to his yacht and go for a swim over the side, the suggestion was enthusiastically applauded.

"There's plenty of cabin space for dressing rooms," he pointed out, "and of course all my crowd have their bathing suits right there. I can fit you out with a suit, Royce, but I don't know about Mrs. Hume and the girls. How can we fix that?"

A Dip in the Bay

"We can telephone home for ours," said Barbara Hume, "and have them sent down here, or better still, if you girls will phone your maids to get your suits ready I'll send my coachman around to pick them up. It won't take twenty minutes."

Half an hour later Barbara announced, "there are the suits, girls. Come on, everybody. I'm just dying to get into the water."

The party went down to the float and crowded into the launch that was waiting there. Carney's yacht lay several hundred yards out in the bay and proved to be much more spacious than it appeared from shore. Under the owner's directions, the bathers went below to attire themselves for the plunge.

Royce and Carney were the first to reappear on deck and they were enjoying a cigarette together when Barbara Hume put in an appearance. Barbara Hume was beginning to show the effects of too many highballs.

"Carra isn't going in," she announced.

"What's the matter? Where is she?" asked Royce. "She's not ill, surely?"

"No, it's isn't that," said Barbara. "She's helping the other girls get into their things, but her maid forgot to send any bathing suits with her bathing suit and she says she won't go in without them."

"No, I don't know now," said Cappy, but I shall know by tonight."

"Before we go to Santa Barbara?" asked Mary.

"I hope so," said Cappy, a little dubiously.

The two wandered toward the other room: Bill was exciting the whimsical dog in a corner and making an effort to interest Mr. Skinner in a discussion on lumber.

Cappy broke in: "By the way, Bill, have you got anything in particular to do this afternoon, for an hour or so?"

"Anything I can do for you, sir," said Bill, "I'll be glad to do."

"That's nice of you," said Cappy. "There is something you can do—as you know we're going to Santa Barbara tonight to attend the birthday celebration of an old friend. I want to bring her something unique—I've been racking my brains and at last I've got it—it's a blue vase—and it's in the window of an antique dealer called Cohen, I think. I was a fool not to stop and buy it when I saw it, but, then, we're all fools at times."

Mary shot a look at Cappy and started to speak. She was one of three persons who knew of Cappy's test of the blue vase. She rebelled at the idea of framing Bill up and yet there was the China job, and though others had failed, she had a pride in Bill.

"As I remember it," Cappy went on, "this store was somewhere on Sutter street, between Powell and Stockton——"

"And what did the vase look like," asked Bill, now all attention.

"It was a blue vase—Dutch blue or delft about a foot tall—and it stood on a teakwood base —is it remember it, the name over the door was, I, Cohen."

"Sure I'll find it," said Bill, "glad to accommodate you. Now let's see if I got you, and he jotted down in a note book the directions Cappy had given, repeating them to make sure there had been no mistake.

Cappy was pleased; "now as to cost," he said, "from what I know about vases of that kind it will cost very little; you pay for it and I'll pay you—is that all right?"

"Sure thing," said Bill with all the confidence of youth; "and where shall I deliver it?"

"Give yourself plenty of time," said Cappy, "my private car is to be hitched on the Santa Barbara express leaving at 3."

"Right," said Bill, "I'll bring it to the train."

"Thank you," beamed Cappy.

"Good-by, everybody," called the young man, "see you at the train, Mary," and speaking to the dog he walked out to get the blue vase.

When the door closed Skinner burst forth, "I hope he makes it, the last man you tried failed."

"Make it, of course he'll make it," said his daughter.

Cappy made no remarks; but not even Mary was more anxious for Bill Peck to bring back the blue vase than he was.

On the face of the task there did not seem anything very formidable about following a simple set of directions, buying a simple blue vase and bringing it to the train.

Mr. Peck was full of happy thoughts as he left the Ricks' home; he was glad that Cappy had asked him to do this little favor; it showed that he liked him.

The dog trotted along at his heels. Mr. Peck swung his cane and grinned at the world in general; this was Sunday and there on the streets were dressed in holiday attire; the business stores were closed, barring delicatessen shops and soda fountains.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Turpentine cleans ties on the bench, in the bathroom, or in the hall. It only needs rubbing over the tiles with a piece of clean old flannel or woven stuff.

A quarter of a teaspoonful of baking powder added to mashed potatoes while beating will make them light and fluffy.

FOXY GRANDPA STORY

HE SEES SOME FUNNY SOLDIERS

SO you would like to have a monkey, children? Well, the next time I go to Africa or South America or India I'll bring you one. I might even bring you a Barbary ape from Europe.

You are surprised that monkeys live in Europe? Well, they do—but just in one tiny spot, and no one seems to know how they got there. I'll tell you how it happened to see them.

It was in Gibraltar that I first saw these little fellows called Barbary apes.

Gibraltar is a beautiful place. I wish you could see it. The town is built on a sandy stretch of land, and around the town is a big wall. At night when they close the gates it is a very pretty sight to see the soldiers marching down the street with a fife and drum corps and stand at attention at sundown while they lock the big gates.

One evening as we were standing waiting to see the fife and drum corps march down the street, Bobby said:

"Look, Foxy Grandpa! Look what's coming after the soldiers."

I looked, and what do you think I saw? There, marching behind the soldiers in his uniform was the little monkey and behind him was a whole company of monkeys jumping along as if they were drilling with the soldiers.

Bobby cried excitedly:

"Perhaps there's a zoo here and the door of the monkey-house was left open."

But Bunny, who was out of my pocket by this time and sitting on my shoulder, said:

"They're Barbary apes. You know that monkeys live here in Gibraltar and everybody wonders how they got here. Some people think that at one time the Mediterranean Sea was a lake and that a strip of land held Africa and Europe together and that monkeys came over from Africa. Other people insist that the monkeys dug a tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar and came over to Europe that way. But, anyhow, monkeys do live here and climb all over the Big Rock of Gibraltar."

Pretty, Wavy, Curling Hair Without Hot Iron

The Wonderful Stimerine Method

Here's a simple method which is a favorite of the belles of a certain exclusive social set. It will give your hair such a pretty curliness and lustre and permit you to do away with the ruinous waving iron forever. Just get from any druggist a few ounces of pure Liquid Stimerine, and apply a little with a clean tooth brush just before doing up the hair. This will give you a real surprise. The fascinating, fluffy, wavy effect will appear so natural, and there will be no greasy, gummy, streaky or other unpleasant trace of the harmless liquid. You can exercise for hours in the gymnasium, dance all evening in a heated ball room, or take a long motor trip, without fear of your hair losing its curl—indeed, you won't need to again use Stimerine for a considerable time.

LIQUID SILMERINE

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"To pay through the nose."

Now has a sinister meaning of forcing payment by disagreeable means. The phrase is based on the ancient Swedish method of nose, instead of poll, tax.

"There is no royal path to riches."

The original of this familiar saying is attributed to the famous mathematician, Euclid, who told the Egyptian King, Ptolemy I.: "There is no royal path that leads to Geometry."

CAPILLARY ACTION

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"What causes capillary action in small tubes? Is there any limit to the height that it will lift a liquid?—C. J. S., New York."

CAPILLARY action, which gets its name from the Latin word capillus, "hair," (referring to the smallness of the tubes used), is the drawing up of a liquid along the line of contact between it and a solid, such as glass. When a narrow tube is used the liquid rises relatively high in the interior, and depending upon the tension. It happens that in the case of the liquid mercury the cohesion of the molecules exceeds the adhesive attraction, so that when a glass tube is dipped into mercury the mercury is depressed instead of being lifted.

face which causes a layer of the to appear to act like an elastic skin drawn over the liquid.

When a liquid is in contact with a solid another attractive force called adhesion comes into play, the tendency of which is to draw the liquid molecules into the surface of the solid. If the attraction of the solid exceeds the cohesion of the liquid the latter spreads over the solid, "wetting" it. If the solid surface is horizontal, and rising, if the surface is vertical, to a height depending upon the tension. It happens that in the case of the liquid mercury the cohesion of the molecules exceeds the adhesive attraction, so that when a glass tube is dipped into mercury the mercury is depressed instead of being lifted.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Decent business concerns are becoming too much harassed by being subjected to every conceivable variety of red tape, every conceivable variety of questionnaiting by the Federal tax gatherers, by State tax gatherers, by Federal and State commissions, by special probers clothed with governmental authority, by, in short, a whole army of tax eaters who care not a snap of their fingers how much trouble, how much work, how much expense they impose upon business in compiling an endless maze of statistics.

On the other hand, it seems to be the easiest thing in the world to launch some fake or wholly worthless project and scoop in hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars from the public, without having to pay any full penalty.

The railroads, for example, complain that the fearsome array of rules and miles of statistics demanded by their regulators now costs quite a percentage of their operatings. Many thousands of employes throughout the country are today engaged to do little or nothing work.

And, of course, the Income Tax has created a legion of clerks and officials on the pay roll of Uncle Sam—we have to support them.

Lord Northcliffe, on his last visit to America, was so struck by the legion of clerks he thought he was carried here that he said to me, "There is danger of elaborate machinery of government getting a little time left for attending to anything else—for earning money."

* * *

If decent business were left alone far more than it is, and the activities of the politicians and their innumerable investigators who concentrated upon the task of ferreting out fakers and unworthy "promoters" of all kinds, and thus stepping in the road many schemes for fleecing the public, the results would be more satisfactory, more helpful, more wholesome.

* * *

"Home builders see $260,000 lost in crash," reads a big headline in yesterday's newspapers over an article which goes on to say thus: "Twenty Manhattan families learned yesterday that prospective homes in which they invested approximately $200,000 were castles in the air."

For several years the public were fed with all sorts of alluring statements by a set of promoters who proclaimed that they were going to start building a mammoth hotel in the heart of New York, the Commodore Hotel. The bait was held out that each stockholder would be entitled to a rebate on all his hotel bills when he patronized his "own" hostelry.

Year after year has passed, but the Commodore Hotel has yet yeared its head in New York. From what I gather, most if not all of those who donated the public into buying between three million dollars' and four million dollars' worth of stock have quietly withdrawn from the scheme, without leaving in the treasury anything like the amount of cash paid in by the misguided buyers of the stock.

I understand that this whole sorry mess will shortly be laid bare to the public's gaze by responsible citizens who have stepped in to do whatever is possible to salvage the project.

The end of it all is that too little consideration is given decent business and politics and not enough of their attention is aimed at crooks.

Much jubilation was expressed the other day when the court in New York lifted off in bankruptcy the books and other papers of a bankrupt brokerage concern must be opened for inspection by the authorities. Since there is no information which governmental and other regulators and probers do not extract from decent business, why, in the name of common sense, should there have been any hesitation in seizing the books of concerns of a different character?

* * *

Turn more of our army of tax eaters on the trail of crooks. And call them off the backs of decent business.

This Will Interest YOU, Anyhow

It Ought to Interest the Administration. Potatoes and Railroads Are Important

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

The government thinks a great deal about the poor railroads and how to get more dividends for them. It thinks considerably about the poor steel companies, with their capitalization of a couple of billions or so, and wonders how to supply them with labor needed.

It would be a good idea for the Republican administration, if it wants to be RE-ELECTED, to think a little about the farmers, about what THEY need and what THEY ought to have.

The Republican administration OUGHT to be interested in two short editorials, written and published by Senator Capper, a Republican Senator from Kansas, in his Capper's Weekly. They are printed below.

Whether the government is interested or not, you that buy potatoes and always pay a big price, no matter how little the farmer gets, will be interested in a few simple facts about potato raising.

From Capper's Weekly:

"Potatoes Rot While Consumer Pays 400 Per Cent."

The Michigan farmer's 24-cents-a-bushel potatoes for which a Virginia woman paid $1.20, or five times what the men who grew the potatoes received, interests the Washington Daily News, whose readers are potato consumers.

The man who grew the potatoes owned or rented land which he plowed, harrowed and fertilized. Then he bought seed potatoes, cut them for planting, put them in the ground, plowed and hoed them several times, sprayed them to save them from the potato beetle, dug them up, cleaned them, dried them, graded them, hauled them to market—and got 24 cents for them.

The News discovers that the man who bought the potatoes put them in a car with a lot of other potatoes, shipped them to a commission merchant, who sold them without seeing them to the retailer who sold them to the woman.

During this process the price was doubled, then tripled, then quadrupled and finally made five times the figure the grower got who in partnership with God, produced the potatoes. He worked and sweated to sell them for 24 cents. The dealers divided a gross profit of 400 per cent.

Is this the best marketing system that can be devised? asks the News.

Within ten years farmers' co-operative marketing associations will have answered that question satisfactorily to everybody.

In the same column with this little editorial on potatoes, Senator Capper publishes a short, but plenty long enough and convincing editorial, on "The Poor Struggling Railroads."

Capper's Weekly, with these two little editorials that you see here, printed in large type, goes into the hands of at least a million farmers. Those farmers are not fools by a long shot. They work hard from the time the sun rises until after it sets. Nevertheless, they have SOME time for thinking. And the sort of editorial that Capper is printing in his Capper's Weekly is the kind that IS MAKING THE FARMERS THINK, and that will ultimately solve the farmer's problems, as all other problems in this world are solved, by THINKING.

Here is Senator Capper's short railroad editorial:

"Two More Struggling Railroads"

Norfolk & Western earned $10.66 a share in 1922, compared with $7.50 in 1921. Southern Pacific increased its net operating income more than 10 million dollars last year, has averaged more than twice all its charges in the last 10 years and has paid 6 per cent. dividends every year for 16 years, says a trust company circular. We hope we shall not be accused of a desire to wreck the roads or to throw them into bankruptcy if we venture to suggest they might reduce their higher-than-war freight rates.

Churches on Trial

Congregations Falling Off in London

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

While London has gained millions in population, London churches have steadily fallen off in attendance. Now the Bishop of London must decide which of the many churches should be torn down as no longer of use. He will appoint a "grand jury" to try the churches of least attendance, and condemn to destruction those found worthless. Some of the churches will be consolidated, to save money; some not needed will be spared because of historical or architectural value. That news would have interested old Ingersoll.

Equal Pay for Teachers

Women Have Broken Through the Ice of Custom at State House This Year

The women seem to have broken through the ice of custom this year. They have just put through the House of Representatives in our General Court the bill which gives equal pay for equal service among our school teachers, men and women.

It has always been difficult to appreciate the point of view of those who believe in denying to women the same remuneration given to men for LIKE service.

We hope that the work of emancipating women economically will go on. It is a very important task. Political emancipation is one thing, but it is not perfect without economic emancipation. No young woman should ever be obliged to shudder between the thoughts of a disagreeable marriage and impoverished old age. When young women can look at marriage with the same freedom men look upon it, we shall have less divorces and happier homes, and brighter and stronger children.

The women school teachers have been fighting, whether consciously or unconsciously, a very important battle, which involves important changes in our economic and social syste[illegible]

WILD YARNS OF FOG IN LONDON

LONDON, April 27.—Londoners dote on fogs. They revel in them. They love to talk about them. This is the foggy season. An American complaining about the condition was told by one of his English friends:

"This is no fog. Why, I remember one so dense I ran into lamp posts because I could not see the lights." The other friend said he remembered one so thick he struck a match but didn't know it was lighted until he burned his fingers. All Americans here complain about the fogs.

Cost U. S. Prestige

Editor Boston American:

It is obviously a chronic ailment of Ambassador Harvey's, in his London speeches to infer that American integrity, ideals, and history are subservient in importance to that of Britain. His latest effort would be more appropriate if attributed to a British Tory rather than the representative of a nation which shared as much of the burden of the recent war as the United States did.

If, as he claims, his home town of Peacham, Vt., is comprised wholly of people of English lineage the fact does not justify any boasting, while being, at the same time, not necessarily discreditable. The idea that a society should be formed in Vermont or any other State in conjunction with one in England, with the Prince of Wales as its patron, is especially ill-timed, not only because it is un-American in principle, in that it works in opposition to the "melting pot" idea.

The ambassador has no grounds for his statement that we owe England for the blessings we enjoy as a nation and that we have much in common with her. One of our greatest blessings, liberty, was only procured by warring with her.

If Harvey's appointment to London was a Harding move to remove him as a political criticiser at home, it has hardly been worth while from a national standpoint. His glib tongue has cost us much in American prestige abroad.

JOHN M. BOYLE.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Has Complete Suit

ED. NOTE—In answer to several who have offered to supply John, the ex-boy, with a suit of clothes, the editor wishes to announce that the Boston American has outfitted him with a complete suit.

Address Will Be Sent

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of the girl that has been in the hospital four years. MISS I. M.

ED. NOTE—M. C. B.'s address will be sent you. Thank you.

M. G. T. Given $5

ED. NOTE—The editor wishes to acknowledge the receipt of $5 from G. W. V. for M. G. T., whose husband is in the hospital and who is finding it rough sledding. Many thanks.

Articles for Mrs. S.

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please put me in touch with Mrs. S., whose letter was in Wednesday's paper? I have a few things I would like to give her. Wish it was more.

MRS. A. W. S.

ED. NOTE—The things you describe in the list will help her a lot, I know. Her address will be sent you.

Vet Needs Typewriter

Editor Helping Hand:

Has someone a typewriter for a disabled soldier? I am in government vocational training in Boston. Ability to typewrite is necessary for the objective I have in mind, but there is no typewriting course in the school I am at. I am willing to work on Saturdays in payment for a typewriter, provided the work is not too heavy for me.

Shoes and Hats

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please put me in touch with Mrs. R. H.? I have a pair of new shoes she can have, a satin hat, a straw hat, two white shirtwaists, a handbag and a dress skirt. MRS. S. B.

ED. NOTE—You will be put in touch with Mrs. R. H. Thank you.

Children's Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few baby clothes and little colored dresses, size one year, also a new gingham dress that would fit a girl between fifteen and eighteen, also some men's ties, which I would like to send to some worthy people.

DAISY LEE.

ED. NOTE—You will be put in touch with Miss A. F., who needs the girl's clothes, and with Mrs. J. S., who has a baby a year old in need of clothes. Thank you.

Coat for W. W. W.

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me W. W. W.'s address, as I have a very good coat, which I am sure will fit him. If you send address I will send it parcel post, so he can wear it. MRS. L.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. The address will be sent.

Books Offered

Editor Helping Hand:

I read in your paper about a boy who would like some books to read. Please send me his address, and I will send him some good boys' books.

A. S.

ED. NOTE—You will be put in touch with T. O'B., who asked for books. Thank you.

Crib and Mattress

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a crib and mattress, which I would be glad to give to any needy mother. L. R. G.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. You will be put in touch with Mrs. R. H., who has no bed for her little baby.

Girls to Board

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if any of your kind readers would have a place for me to board my two little girls, ages six and two years? I am a war veteran and working only two or three days each week, and my wife expects to go to the hospital soon. We are obliged to move next Saturday, and were the children in some one's care, it would be much easier for my wife. C. S. 2.

For High School Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

If you will send me the address mentioned in Saturday's Boston American I will be pleased to send her the following articles. If you know of anyone to whom these will be of more value than to Mrs. M. V., forward their address instead, and I will be pleased to mail these things. I read your column continually and think it is the best way I have ever heard of helping people. It supplies the much-needed "personal touch." MRS. C. O. P.

ED. NOTE—Mrs. M. V. has been pretty well supplied, so I am sending you the address of Miss L. J., a high school girl, one of a large family in need of clothes. Many thanks.

Suits of Clothes

The editor wishes to express his sincere thanks to the Bedford street clothing manufacturer who has offered to supply trousers for ten boys. The names and addresses of boys in need of clothes will be sent him, and he will send the trousers post paid. Who said this country was rotting with commercialism?

Things for Grace

Editor Helping Hand:

I would be very glad if you would send Grace's address. I have a few things for her.

E. M. K.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. Her address will be sent you.

Has Place for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

I will be glad to give the granddaughter of Mrs. R. H. a good home indefinitely and a few dollars a week for helping with the housework. MRS. QUINCY.

ED. NOTE—Her address will be sent you. Thank you.

Double Mattress

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a good double-bed mattress to give some one if they will call for it. C. S.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. Your offer will be held for replies.

SUN YET SEN ROUTS REBEL FORCES AND GETS AN INCH

By Herbert Kaufman

COPERNICUS was born 450 years ago. He worked out the theory of the solar system upon which all present astronomical research is predicated. His birthday inspires a paragraph of comment.

Rebellion is raging in China. An inch item casually mentions that Sun Yat Sen's armies have routed the enemy. Meanwhile, cables are crowded with details of the Duke of York's marriage and the list of attending celebrities and their gifts.

Fifty-two-year-old John de Temple, dock department employe, plunges into the Hudson, rescues a man from drowning and cuts the thirty-seventh notch in his life-saving record. Mere details of the incident are printed.

Wild Bill Hiecok killed a dozen gamblers and brawlers and is immortalized by fiction and history. Bat Masterson's lightning draw lands him in the frontier halls of fame and de Temple gets a moment's attention.

Publishers, experts in the workings of the public mind, know the weirdness of human interest. Vaudeville managers, as keen judges of mass psychology, book home-run kings and ring champions on their own terms. There isn't one of them who'd give stage room to a martyr or the savior of a battalion.

Heroism is not a neat-filler or a paying trade—note de Temple's job.

Sergeant Michael Donaldson, loaded with medals of valor, is still out of work.

He Undermines the Tower of Babel

The curse of Babel vanishes in thin air. Radio promises to make all speech kin. General Squier has invented a universal alphabet for wire and wireless communication. Messages may be sent at an increased speed of 150 per cent. Sounds flows in modulated waves instead of sputtering from a Morse key. Intonation replaces space punctuation. Esperanto at last!

Whereupon, Nature, observing man pat himself on the back, stirs a tornado in the Panhandle, blows Burkburnett oil derricks to smithereens, unroofs a bunch of houses and caps the climax by piling streets a foot deep with hailstones.

Just to show we aren't yet masters of all forces.

They Don't Keep Track of Events

A Haverstraw merchant hands wire-tappers $86,000. It seems incredible, in this day of constantly exposed swindles, that any person shrewd enough to amass $86,000 should be such an imbecile as to fall for the most palapable of frauds. One of the consequences of not reading newspapers.

Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon will lay her bridal wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier. Somebody else who should keep closer track of happenings.

Students of social trends in England would advise her that she makes a beautiful gesture, but one not nearly so effective against spreading radicalism as the donation of a few diamond tiaras to war charities. If the latest entrant to royal circles would expend part of her lavish dowry on the care of wounded soldiers and the succor of orphans parliamentary grants for Kings and Princes might thereafter meet less opposition.

One More Billion Eater?

The Asiatic exclusion act does not halt the entrance of Japanese beetles. The United States now has another devastator to fight.

Hardly arrived here, its depradations already amount to millions of dollars.

The one great conflict for which all peoples must eventually unite will be waged between the human races and such common foes of man.

Ticks, weevils, worms and bugs challenge the combined forces and fortunes of all powers. Civilization's lasting enemies are in the field and the woods. They ravage more hopes and resources than ever did Attila and his Huns. Not a blade of grass grew where his hordes had passed, either.

Two Chips of the Same Block

Greek legend celebrates the stark grit of a Spartan lad who kept denying the theft of a pet fox while the animal, hidden in his tunic, gnawed through flesh and bone.

Here's a youngster made of the same stern stuff. Stephen Breen, nine years old, falls from a tree, breaks an arm in two places. Dreading punishment, he conceals the hurt and continues to attend school.

Something's wrong at home when fear drives a shaver to such piteous lengths of fortitude.

Something's wrong in government when a nation can't break the throttling grip of its profiteers. The Dutch East India Sugar Trust boosts prices and the local market promptly responds with another twist of the thumbscrew.

Cuban raw and granulated advance, as fifteen cents casts its shadow on retail stores.

Beet growers, furnishing 200,000 of the 5,000,000 tons of sweets consumed in the United States, are better friends of Congress than the rest of the people. America will pay hundreds of millions to rapacity if special interests attain their fixed goal.

Man Mines Another Brain-Lode

Man has only begun to mine the lodes of his brain.

Platinum sells for $3,000 a pound. Illium, a substitute metal of identical properties, is turned out by the University of Illinois at a cost of $3 a pound.

Industry, at the announcement, instantly begins to revise estimates and consider how many savings and efficiencies may be accomplished by the employment of this godsend.

Crucible steel makers sense the production of a flawless product.

Inventors in a thousand fields will redraft dreams and patch more gaps in possibility.

Laboratories, earth over, will quiz gold and silver with a new determination and fresh awakened confidence in the power of mind over matter.

The philosopher's stone wasn't such a far-fetched notion after all. Time reiterates that impossibilities are merely defeat's alibis, not faith's conclusions. Progress is paved with recut blocks to endeavor.

Mix the wildest dreams with enough brow-sweat and clock-ticks and practically anything is achievable.
